Three Killed in County Automobile Accidents

ORANGE MAN IS CRUSHED BY TRAIN

Second Victim Trapped
in Towed Machine
Hit by Truck

Tragedy struck three times—the sixth, seventh and eighth times inside of two weeks—when three drivers lost their lives in Orange county traffic yesterday and today.

Milton Quandt, 25, Orange, was instantly killed yesterday when a speeding train struck his automobile. Armand Ruiz, 18, Pico, died today of injuries from a collision yesterday afternoon. And William S. Thompson, 71, Santa Monica was instantly killed in a collision this morning.

Thompson's car, a large sedan in which he was riding with his wife and daughter, collided with another heavy car at the corner of Talbert and Harbor boulevard at 9:45 this morning, killing the driver instantly. The other two passengers escaped serious injury.

The victim's body was taken to the Brown and Wagner funeral home pending an inquest.

Instant Death

Witnesses said Quandt's car, traveling westward on Orange-thorpe avenue, apparently began crossing the tracks just as a southbound Santa Fe train roared into the crossing. The driver, alone in the car, was killed instantly and the machine was demolished.

Quandt, who lived at 1017 East Palmyra street, Orange, had lived most of his life in that city, and was associated with his brother-in-law in the tractor business in Fullerton.

Trapped in Car

Ruiz died today at the county hospital after efforts to save his life had failed. Trapped in a stalled automobile at Stanton and Lincoln boulevards yesterday, he was fatally injured when a big oil truck and trailer, driven by Aquila Abraham Ballenger of Whittier, crashed into the back of his car.

Witnesses said Ruiz, his auto being towed by another car, was unable to escape the collision when the truck hurtled into the rear of the auto after its brakes failed to work.

Coroner Earl Abbey ordered the body taken to the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary in Anaheim, where an inquest is pending.

MADRID BEATS OFF ATTACK

MADRID. (AP)—Madrid's defenders repulsed today one of the fiercest attacks on the capital since Gen. Francisco Franco's insurgent troops besieged it.

Fascists showered government lines with ceaseless rifle and machine gun fire, bombarded them with cannon and mortars and then charged.

Starting after nightfall last night, the battle spread from one sector to another—in Casa de Campo park on the west, University City to the north and Usera to the south. It was not ended until almost daybreak today.

Defense commanders, rushing reinforcements to bolster western barricades against possible repetition of the attacks, said the Fascists lost many men.

Arrest Girl in 'Mercy Murder' Attempt

BOSTON. (AP)—A warrant was served on Frances Finkle, 20, in her hospital bed today charging her with attempting to murder her mother, Mrs. Sarah Finkle, in what Police Inspector Harry Pierce said was intended to be a "mercy killing."

Mother and daughter were re-

He's 55 Today

The nation joined today in celebrating President Roosevelt's fifty-fifth birthday. In Santa Ana and thousands of other communities entertainments will be staged to raise funds for combating infantile paralysis.

RADEK SAVED BY SOVIET

Will Testify in Future Trials; 13 Others Must Die

MOSCOW. (AP)—Karl Radek was spared from death as a traitor against the Soviet government, authoritative sources declared today, so his testimony might be used at future conspiracy trials.

The fiery Radek, who refused to beg for clemency and leered at the unexpected leniency of his judges, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment and deprived of his political life for five more.

Thirteen fellow conspirators of the 17 others who faced trial were sentenced to death before a firing squad, after forlorn pleas for mercy, both individually and as a group.

Swift Execution

It was their last chance and despite it, informed sources said, the first announcement that "the verdict of the court has been carried out—meaning the 13 had been shot—was expected tomorrow."

The belief grew in foreign circles Radek was spared not only because of his value as a witness at trials almost certainly planned against other Trotskyists, but also because of his potential services to the nation in case of the war he so frequently predicted would come this year.

Radek, the Soviet's most brilliant newspaper writer, also is a veteran of the Russian diplomatic service and an expert in foreign affairs with a valuable revolutionary background.

If War Comes

Should there be war, authoritative sources predicted, the Kremlin would find it expedient to accept Radek's word he had broken completely with Trotsky and take him back again into the fold.

His caustic, trenchant pen has been sorely missed from the Russian press during the six months of his imprisonment awaiting trial.

It was known also, Joseph Stalin is loth to see Radek die, despite his admitted treachery, because they long have been close friends.

Radek, M. S. Strolloff, and Gregory Sokolnikoff, once Soviet ambassador to Great Britain, went to jail for 10 years; and V. V. Arnold, who had said he was once an American citizen and veteran of two enlistments in the United States army, was imprisoned for eight years.

The judges said the four who escaped death were equally as guilty of treason as the others, but had not actually engineered the terroristic plots to which the others confessed.

covering in different hospitals, doctors said, from the effects of opiate doses.

The warrant, charging attempted murder, and assault with intent to murder, was issued by Judge Albert F. Hayden upon the request of Police Sergeant John McElhinney.

Inspector Pierce said the girl,

Other Cities Plan Fetes Tonight; Funds to Aid Paralysis Victims

All streets in Santa Ana will lead to three places tonight as a trio of brilliant events is staged in colorful observance of the President's Birthday ball.

The three scintillating events will enable Santa Ana to make a substantial contribution to a most worthy cause—that of aiding victims of infantile paralysis to put their feet back on the road to health. But those who attend any one of the functions will have a swell time while they are offering this aid.

PRESIDENT TO FETE 'BIRTHDAY GANG'

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt was 55 years old today, and thousands of well wishers reminded him of it before noon.

Pronounced in excellent health by his physician, Captain Ross T. McIntire, the president went about his daily tasks in his customary systematic way.

He will entertain at dinner tonight his "birthday gang"—newspapermen assigned to the navy department when Mr. Roosevelt was assistant secretary, and others.

Henry Williams and her decorations committee have made of the ballroom a bright place of beauty, as has been done also in the Ebell clubhouse.

Fan Mail Swamps Townsend Spender

CHELAN, Wash. (AP)—Lollypop appetites of his grandchildren absorbed the last pennies of 63-year-old C. C. Fleming's $200 Townsend experiment "fortune," and the elderly man turned today to his "fan mail."

But his spending failed to help the Townsends' claims of how fast a transactions tax would raise money on rapidly moving dollars, because the marked dollars vanished. Proponents of the experiment blamed souvenir hunters and malicious hoarders. Fleming has been promised $200 a month for five more months.

Fleming the 130 letters he and his 58-year-old wife have received since he was given $200 to spend, Fleming said "me and maw will sure answer these."

A second Cheelan "pensioner" is to be named at tonight's President's ball to put $200 in circulation "prosperity" checks into circulation in a second month's spending test.

Prince Michael Suffers Relapse

FLORENCE, Italy. (AP)—Rumanian and Italian royal physicians watched carefully today over 15-year-old Crown Prince Michael after the ailing heir to the Rumanian throne suffered a relapse. Physicians said the prince's weakened condition after an emergency appendectomy last week was due to influenza, but they expected him to take a turn for the better.

TIGER ATTACKS ITS TRAINER

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A theater audience, failing to recognize deadly peril when it appeared unshed on a vaudeville program, applauded wittily as two giant Bengal tigers attacked their trainer here last night.

Capt. Roman Proske, former Austrian soldier, was clawed and bitten in a cage at the Orpheum before stagehands finally drove off his enraged animals with spears.

Wounded on the neck, shoulder, stomach and leg, Captain Proske was confined to a hospital today, his condition reported not serious.

The near-fatal blood began to seep through the trainer's jacket did the audience realize he had been hurt and the incident was not part of his act. Three other tigers in the cage had kept their places.

Maritime Strike End Near, Report Officials

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—More hurried conferences brought the end of the long maritime strike nearer a referendum vote among the seven unions involved today.

One of the two remaining unions with demands still unsettled agreed to arbitrate. The other suggested arbitration and conferred with an employers' committee.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi again summoned both factions to his office for a report on the status of the referendum vote. H. P. Melnikow, union adviser, said it was unchanged, but likely to go forward soon.

Final Agreement Near

"From what I hear, said Mayor Rossi, 'both sides are not very far apart and I suggest you confer in efforts to reach a final agreement.'"

Committees of the American Radio Telegraphists' association, headed by Roy Pyle, and the shipowners, led by T. G. Plant, went into executive session.

Plant previously stated the employers wished to arbitrate all questions, rather than merely those remaining unsettled.

The Cooks and Stewards association decided to go back to work and arbitrate on wages and hours. This was agreeable to the employers. The A. R. T. A. wanted to arbitrate on manning scales and wages.

The cooks and stewards planned to vote on whether to accept the shipowners' best offer, or to ballot on the points already in accord with the understanding that wages and hours and cash for overtime would be arbitrated.

Melnikow announced that the cooks and stewards situation had been compromised, however.

A sub-committee of the owners met with the masters, mates and pilots for clarification of the tentative agreement in which the union was to be given preference, but the owners retained the right to hire captains of their choice.

Strike leaders indicated the radio telegraphists' situation would not hold up the final settlement.

They called a meeting to prepare for a vote on ending the costly 93-day walkout.

Henry Schmidt, president of the San Francisco longshoremen, said the meeting would prepare a ballot for the coastwide settlement referendum, and added:

"In my opinion the strike is over."

His declaration found backing in effect in statements by Harry Bridges, coast president of the International Longshoremen's association and a key figure in directing the bloodless but bitter dispute.

They May Never Go Back to Flood Lands

Trucks loaded with property of flood refugees move in a continuous column toward Memphis, Tenn., which is high on the Chickasaw bluffs. "I'll never go back," said a share crop farmer named H. M. Davis. "This is the second time I've been driven out of my home by the river. It's enough for me."

PUNCH BOARD WAR OPENS

Jackson Launches Drive
Against "Big Shots"
in Orange County

Open season on punch board "big shots" was declared today by Sheriff Logan Jackson, as he confiscated three boards from outlying county communities.

Convinced despite District Attorney W. F. Menton's ruling to the contrary that many punch boards operating in Orange county are illegal, the sheriff declared today he would strike at the distributor and manufacturer of boards in an effort to clean them out of the county.

He reiterated that he was "not after the more-or-less innocent employees and proprietors of stores who have to pay out for winnings on the board."

Confiscated Boards

The men who operate them are the men he's after. He said he was "determined" to stop punch-board-punching in Orange county.

Yesterday after they had been played by Deputies James Musick and James Workman. They won a money prize and a box of candy.

The sheriff ordered the boards confiscated, but said he would not file a complaint at the present time.

Two boards were confiscated at the Bremer Drug and Stationery store in Buena Park, and the other at the Allen liquor store along the highway near there.

New Conference

Jackson will file a report next week, he said, with Attorney General U. S. Webb, in answer to a request from Webb for a statement on his activities since Webb's conference with peace officers last month, in which the attorney general demanded that petty gambling be stopped.

Sheriffs, district attorneys and police chiefs of counties not represented at the last meeting will confer with Webb in San Francisco Feb. 5, the attorney general said in a letter to Jackson today.

Red Cross Funds For Flood Relief Still Growing

Contributions to the Red Cross flood relief fund in the various districts of Orange county until 10 o'clock this morning, and the quotas which were assigned to them at the beginning of the drive, are as follows:

Santa Ana, quota, $5000; contributions, $3840.45.
Anaheim, quota, $1000; contributions, $1184.50.
Orange, quota, $600; contributions, $765.43.
Fullerton, quota, $2000; contributions, $1340.50.
County totals, quota, $8600; contributions, $7140.88.

G-M, STRIKERS DEADLOCK

Miss Perkins 'Stunned'
By Sloan's Truce
Rejection

WASHINGTON. (AP)—General Motors and its striking workers stood at loggerheads again today after Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., the corporation's president, rejected a truce proposal drawn up at a conference between him and Secretary Perkins.

Sloan conferred with the labor department head at an unheralded meeting yesterday.

Miss Perkins thereafter told reporters the outlook for a settlement was brighter but that "one person had not yet been reached by telephone that needs to be checked." She arranged with John L. Lewis, union leader, for negotiations.

Late at night, Sloan called the secretary from New York, however, to announce he could not go through with the tentative truce agreement.

Friends said Miss Perkins was "stunned" by Sloan's decision, but still was determined to bring the corporation and union leaders together around a conference table.

It was the second time Sloan had left the capital during an attempt to find some basis for negotiations.

Ship Fights Fire In South Pacific

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Coast guard headquarters here reported today the steamer Inverbank is in distress and fighting a fire in its copra cargo, approximately 1300 miles due south of the Hawaiian islands. The Inverbank's SOS was received by the naval radio station at Jarvis island in the south Pacific and relayed to the mainland, the coast guard said.

LAD USES GUN ON OFFICER

Pulls Weapon in Car as Deputy Escorts Him to Juvenile Home

Death stared Assistant County Probation Officer Carl S. Warner in the face yesterday afternoon.

It was sudden and violent death, in the form of a loaded revolver in the hands of a desperate 14-year-old boy.

Warner was taking the boy to the juvenile home in Santa Ana yesterday afternoon. Suddenly and without warning the boy jerked a gun from his pocket and attempted to train it on Warner.

The probation officer grappled with the boy, one hand guiding the automobile and the other the gun hand of the youth. Warner managed to get his fingers behind the trigger so the boy, who goes unnamed, could not pull the trigger.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames brought the boy back into court and sent him to the Whittier Reformatory School instead of the juvenile home.

9-Year-Old Bride Interested in Doll

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Honoring in a mountain cabin, 9-year-old Eunice Winstead Johns played happily today with her doll—a gift from her 22-year-old husband—while he laid plans for their new farm home.

Charlie Johns, six foot, black haired mountaineer, said they would build a cabin about 15 miles from this little east Tennessee town, and "go to housekeeping" within a few weeks.

Parents of the couple showed no inclination to interfere with the marriage.

The bride's mother married at the age of 16 and a sister, now 18 and mother of a small baby, was married at the age of 13.

Blame It on Curiosity

It's a great human trait—curiosity. It's the thing that keeps newspapers alive—especially live newspapers like The Journal. People want to know what's going on, what their neighbors are doing. NEW DANGERS THREATEN VALLEY

115,000 Men Battle
to "Lick" Angry
Mississippi

By the Associated Press

A fresh host of dangers—earth tremors, crumbling levees and rising waters—punctuated the weary struggle of man against the river along the 1200-mile flood trail today.

Brief lived but terrifying, the earth trembled ominously near Tiptonville, Tenn., in the area where a century ago an earthquake formed the vast Reelfoot lake, east of the river.

The tremor, striking new fear into tragedy-numbed refugees huddled behind the dikes, came shortly after 3 a. m.

Levees Withstand Tremor

"It lasted several seconds," said Police Chief Pete Smith, "but the levees are still holding."

A hasty inspection by engineers indicated that the earthen walls were not breached.

With 60 billion tons of water cresting down the Ohio river valley in search of lower levels, the dramatic defense of little Cairo, Ill., a river-girt island city, lying 60 feet below the level of the flood tide—nearly its climax.

Water Nears Topwall

Creeping near the top of the 60 foot concrete seawall, the water touched 58.75 feet today—the highest stage in the city's history.

Only one and one-fourth feet of levee remained before the yellow flood would lap at the hastily constructed wood and dirt bulkhead, three feet high, which was thrown up atop the wall in a last minute effort to stave off disaster.

The water stood higher than its previous record-breaking height on Tuesday, before engineers dynamited the Birds Point-New Madrid "fuse plug" into a 131,000 acre spillway to relieve pressure on Cairo.

Spillway Basin Full

Increasing the menace to the city was the fact that the spillway basin faced a choice of blasting a new outlet for the basin, seeking to divert the waters back into the main stream bed, or allowing the flood to pile back with renewed pressure on Cairo.

Above Cairo, to the north, emergency pick and shovel crews labored frantically to plug two breaks in the earthen levees.

An army of 115,000 men labored on a last minute drive to strengthen the defenses and disperse an old river belief that no dike can (Please turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

BURGLAR HITS THREE TIMES

Three householders who didn't lock their doors woke up today to find they had been visited by a burglar.

Entering each time through a door which had been left unlocked when residents went to bed, the man escaped with a $30 watch and $7.50 in cash in excursions to two of the homes. At the third he was frightened away.

Detective Lieut. Charles Wolford of the Santa Ana police department said the home of Dr. A. P. Koontopp, 920 Louise street; L. N. Harmon, 1081 West Sixth street, and H. E. Stuessy, 1123 West Third street, were entered during the night. After getting the watch from the Koontopp home, the burglar fled just before officers arrived.

At the Harmon residence he escaped with $7.50, and the loss was not discovered until this morning. He was frightened away from the Stuessy home when Mrs. Stuessy heard him in the bedroom and called to her husband to turn on a light, Wolford said.

"By inspecting a few fruits growers can thus arrive at a reasonably close decision as to what is expected in the way of fruit for the market. As in most cases in the standards set up by the agricultural code, a tolerance is allowed for human error in grading. In the case of avocados

"There is considerably variation in damage to avocado trees in this county, and we are not prepared to make an estimate of the loss, but one marketing organization has estimated that 70 per cent of the fruit now remaining on the trees in California has been affected by the frost. This being true, and with a growing demand for avocados the price for good fruit should be materially higher than the near future.

"Those desiring further information concerning methods of determining frost injury in avocado trees should apply to the local district agricultural inspector or to the main office at 221 North Main annex."

DRIVER GETS DEATH CASE SENTENCE

Five criminal cases were disposed of by superior court judges yesterday afternoon.

Dewey Killen, Long Beach marine who previously had faced charges of driving while intoxicated and negligent homicide in connection with the death of an unidentified cyclist near San Clemente last November, drew six months suspended sentence when he appeared before Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

Edward E. Givant and Dorothy Givant, accused of shoplifting in three Santa Ana stores, appeared before Superior Judge James L. Allen. The couple faced three counts of burglary in connection with thefts of merchandise from the Famous, Rankin's and Hugh J. Love's stores last Dec. 26.

Edward Givant was sentenced to serve four months in the county jail. Dorothy Givant was released from custody to her father.

Judge Allen set Feb. 5 as time for hearing on an application for probation and pronouncement of judgment on Harry A. Straw, charged with issuing a bank check with intent to defraud.

George F. McDaniel, charged with issuing a fictitious bank check, pleaded not guilty and demanded a trial by jury, the date of which was set for March 4 at 10 a. m.

The case against Juan Mendez, who was charged with drunk driving, was dismissed on motion of the district attorney "in furtherance of justice."

FROZEN CITRUS SALVAGE SEEN

Hope loomed today for the frost-stricken rancher.

Citrus by-products manufacturers extended the hope of considerable salvage of frozen fruit, according to officials.

For the manufacture of oil and peel products, by-products companies are reported to be using all available stocks of frozen fruit, which is useless for ordinary market purposes.

James Cook, assistant manager of the California Fruit Growers exchange, said today the exchange company has taken all frozen fruit so far offered by its members. Other companies, increasing the chances of salvage, are using lemons, oranges and grapefruit for similar purposes from affiliated ranchers.

At the same time today the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce appealed to the secretary of agriculture in a move to gain federal appropriation for purchase of frozen fruit.

W. D. Ellis, general agent in Los Angeles for the Farm Credit Administration, was reported by the Associated Press to have pledged farmers the assistance of all units of his organizations.

PREDICT LIGHT RAIN HERE

Massed storm clouds, threatening a wet week-end for Orange county, aren't nearly as dangerous as they appear.

Only scattered showers will fall tonight and tomorrow. This was today's prediction of the United States weather bureau.

The weather, say the prognosticators, will be "unsettled" with some rainfall in the west portion of Southern California. Normal temperatures will prevail, and fresh to strong southerly winds will blow off the coast.

Santa Ana and portions of the county received a trace of rain early this morning, and up to noon today slight showers at times wet streets.

SELL 10 ACRES OF BEAN LAND

Another 10 acres of farm land changed hands today in Orange county as the realty market continued to be strong and active, despite the recent freeze.

The deal completed today saw 10 acres of rich bean land just south of Midway City purchased from Mrs. Cener A. Stockton by John L. Salisbury of Oceanside.

A $5 revenue stamp affixed to the deed indicated that the property sold for about $5000.

The deal was recorded this morning. It was handled by Ed L. Hensley, Midway City real estate broker, through the Abstract Title and Insurance company.

Merriam Slashes Expense Program

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Governor Merriam has cut down to $20,000 the legislature's request for $50,000 to pay contingent expenses for the balance of the session.

The moratorium on mortgages was continued until July by signing an emergency bill. The moratorium would have expired Monday if the bill had gone unsigned.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our recent sorrow will always remain with us as a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude for all those comforting acts.

Don't forget that Senator Harry C. Westover and Assemblyman Clyde A. Watson are the headline speakers at the county-wide Townsend mass meeting in Santa Ana, Tuesday night, at 509 West Fourth street, at 7:30 p. m.

These men are fighting your battles in the state senate and assembly. They deserve a large audience tonight when they discuss contemplated state pension legislation. Real Townsends realize that the final hurdle in the game of putting over the right kind of pension legislation in both the state and nation needs and deserves their cooperation. Come out tonight and let these men open your eyes to the real conditions existing in the state capital and over the state in political circles.

Mrs. Lottie Pickering, secretary of the Orange County Townsend Club Officers association, is issuing a call for the February meeting to be held Tuesday evening, Feb. 2, at 7:30 p. m. in the Santa Ana Townsend hall. All club officers will please announce in those clubs which meet next Monday night. Come out and help the new officers make this a good meeting. There are a lot of things which will be of interest to the Officers of Clubs association under the new national set-up.

Here's another opportunity for you Townsends who like good eats. Santa Ana club No. 10 is putting on a pot-luck dinner at 6 o'clock Monday evening. The enjoyable affair will be staged in the dining hall of the First Methodist church at Fruit and Mint streets. The writer is indebted to Edith L. Paul, secretary of the club, for particulars. She writes that all Townsends are welcome to bring a covered dish and their own table service and have an enjoyable party. Santa Ana club No. 8 to join in the event. A silver offering will be taken at the door. She asks that those bringing covered dishes and table service endeavor to be present at 5:30 p. m. so that tables can be set in time for the party. A regular business session will follow at 7:30 in the auditorium of the church.

Rachel M. Gatzlaff, publicity committee chairman of the Tustin club, writes this column the particular of the club's next Monday night meeting. The first thing in the evening program is a pot-luck dinner which will be held in the social hall of the Tustin Presbyterian church. The Rev. Joe Nation and wife of Long Beach will be special dinner guests. After the dinner at 7:30 p. m. the Rev. Mr. Nation will address the club in its regular weekly business session. The Rev. Mr. Nation is pastor of the Trinity Baptist church of Long Beach and one of the outstanding Townsend speakers of the 18th congressional district. He is not a stranger to Orange county Townsends having spoken before many of the clubs and mass meetings. Monday evening he will discuss "The General Welfare Act of 1937," which is the new Townsend bill being introduced in this session of the United States congress. The Tustin club extends a cordial invitation to all Townsends who can join them in hearing this speaker next Monday evening. The public will also be welcome.

Mrs. K. C. Burdick, president of Costa Mesa club No. 3, writes this column as follows: "Thinking you think we are 'backsliders' (because of no news from this club for three weeks) I am writing to say, 'It's the flu.' We are still loyal to Dr. Townsend and the plan. But the majority of our members are sick and I am still confined to the house after a nose and myself both came down with the same day." She adds, "Vice President W. H. Evans and wife have been sick with it for weeks. The last week we did was to get 410 signers to the Townsend petition. She concludes by saying, 'I am so sorry to have had to miss the convention.'"

The Garden Grove Townsends are to be treated to a musical program in their club's meeting next Monday evening, according to latest reports. Dewey S. Hubbard, president, will preside. The meeting will be held in the chamber of commerce building at 7:30 o'clock that evening. Last Monday night this club's delegates to the Riverside convention gave their reports.

Relatives of S. A. Folk Flee Flood

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Solomon of 1014 Riverine have received word from their niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jackson and son, Jacques, in Seymour, Ind., that they have come through the flood safely.

Jackson, who is a chemist in the Indiana town, is a volunteer worker, registering the flood victims who are being brought to Seymour from Jeffersonville and other scenes of destruction.

ILLEGAL ENTRY

Charged with illegally entering the United States, Takao Sato, 39, San Clemente, was arrested yesterday and booked at the county jail by U. S. immigration officers.

VISIONS 2000 BOY SCOUTS IN 1937

A prediction that 2000 boys in Orange county will be engaged in Boy Scout activities at the end of 1937 was made today by Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

White based his estimate on the marked increase in interest in scouting and number of Scouts during the year, 1936, as embraced in his annual report, made public today as he sent it to national headquarters.

"At no time has the Orange county council had a more interesting and progressive year than during the year, 1936," White's report said. "Many problems of a very serious nature have presented themselves and through the splendid cooperation of all the executive board and council members, and with the support of the loyal scoutmasters, scouting in Orange county is probably more firmly fixed as a social factor in the various communities of the county than ever before."

During the past year the council has organized four new troops, and an outstanding feat brought out was that almost 70 per cent of the boys in scouting in this county come from homes of very moderate circumstances. At the present time the headquarters here is serving 1760 Scouts, including 283 Cubes and 103 Sea Scouts.

The report outlined the major events staged by the Scouts during the year, including courts of honor, parents' nights, pot-luck dinners, outdoor demonstrations, regional camps, Camp Irvine, Sea Scout rendezvous, Newport harbor, field days and outdoor activities.

MARTIN COUNTY FOLK CALLED

All who ever lived in Martin county, Minn., are included in the call to the annual picnic reunion tomorrow in Birch park, according to Judge John G. Mitchell, who will be master of ceremonies at this year's gathering.

The picnic is held here on the last Sunday of each January, and Martin county people living or visiting in all parts of Southern California participate, coming from as far south as San Diego and some from as far north as Santa Barbara, Judge Mitchell states.

A basket picnic is planned, with an informal program at the dinner tables.

FLOOD QUOTAS ARE REACHED

Anaheim and Orange Red Cross chapters have gone over the top in filling their assigned quotas for flood relief, according to figures given out by Orange county chapter today.

Considering the last appeal from National Chairman Cary T. Grayson, which stated that "the generosity of the people can be considered the quota of any chapter," these two county chapters will continue to receive relief funds although their earlier quotas were filled.

Calavo Chief's Car Hits Cycling Boy

Fifteen-year-old Rudy Martinez of Los Angeles got on his bicycle yesterday afternoon, bound for Tijuana to visit his parents.

But today he wasn't in Tijuana. He was in the Orange county hospital, recovering from pavement burns and lacerations because a car struck the rear of his bicycle near Galivan and threw him off.

The auto was driven by George B. Hodgkin, 41, Altadena, manager of the California Calavo Growers association, who told California Highway Patrol Officer by the lights approaching cars and accidentally struck the bicycle.

Fresh Air Seeker Gets Cut Nose

Lawrence Crawford, 716 North Birch street, and Dick McShane, 405 Halesworth street, started out for a breath of fresh air during a dance last night.

Crawford collected not only fresh air, but a severely cut nose when the two youths had words and blows with two unidentified Mexicans in Birch park. He was given first aid at the county hospital for a deep cut along the top of his nose, which required several stitches to close.

REPORTS CRASH

John H. Ellinghausen, 47, Orange, reported to the highway patrol that his auto collided with a car owned by Dr. Russell Johnson, Westminster, yesterday morning in Westminster. He said no one was injured.

CAR PLATES STOLEN

Charles Labree of Balboa had his license plates, No. 67734, stolen in Pasadena Thursday, and he wants the sheriff's office to do something about it. Officers promised Labree they'd have a look around.

ILLEGAL ENTRY

Charged with illegally entering the United States, Takao Sato, 39, San Clemente, was arrested yesterday and booked at the county jail by U. S. immigration officers.

POLICY OF RED CROSS TOLD

Mrs. Laura R. Warren, executive secretary of the Red Cross council in Orange county today issued the following statement regarding benefits for the Red Cross flood relief, quoting from the manual for chapters issued by the American Red Cross:

"All entertainments and benefits in which the emblem or name of the Red Cross is used, must be conducted under the auspices of the local Red Cross chapter or branch. Under no circumstances should entertainments be given in the name of the Red Cross in which the Red Cross shares the benefit with person or organization providing the entertainment."

All checks mailed to Santa Ana or to any chapter or branch should be made out to the American Red Cross, she said. Harry L. Hanson, first national bank, Santa Ana, is treasurer of the Santa Ana chapter. Dr. John Wehrly, 624 North Main, chapter chairman, is also receiving funds, as well as the two Santa Ana newspapers.

"Every cent of your money contributed to the flood relief is sent direct to the American National Red Cross," Mrs. Warren said. "Under an act of congress a full, complete and itemized report of all receipts and expenditures is audited by the war department, and a copy of this annual report is then transmitted to congress by the secretary of war."

The chapter has not been asked to gather clothing, but if such a request is made, the public will be informed, she said.

STUFFING THE SPORTS HOT-BOX

Dju know: Hunting with her husband, the Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, and six other men, including Catcher Gus Mancuso of the New York Giants and Tex Carleton, Chicago Cubs hurler, Mrs. Matty Watkins was the only one in the party to bring down a deer?

That Harry Morris, former Olympic Games representative at Melbourne, Australia, says Australian athletes cannot hope to compete on an equal footing with European athletes because "our sport is on a spare-time basis?" ... overlooking the down-under tennis sharks, no doubt.

Or that Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who won the Oakland golf open, never won anything before in his life, and had never been heard of in the golfing world?

That a referee got hit in the head and cooled off by a soccer ball during an English match between Brentford and Chelsea teams, and that a linesman took charge of the game, kept on playing?

That Masd Antives, a thoroughbred owned by the Aga Kahn, won the King-Emperor cup at Calcutta, but couldn't be presented with his trophy because the new king-emperor hadn't been proclaimed?

That the 77 basketball games of the University of Iowa teams during the past four seasons were watched by 528,000 people—an average of 6,867 per game?

BRADSHAW PINCH HITTING AGAIN

Here's a few of the hotcha sports fans of today won't remember: When Les Slaback, court reporter, was the beeg feller in baseball over at Orange. Those were the days of the home town teams. Baseball was baseball and football was football, if you listen to the old-timers. You could take a poke at the other guy or the umpire in either game without making the headlines. But most of the fighting was among the fans.

Believe it or not, one of the feats for which Les is most remembered, at least by this writer, is pushing a baby buggy past the stands when he arrived for a Saturday afternoon game at the Orange High school grounds. Les looked as proud as though he'd knocked a home run. And everybody cheered.

There was some years ago. Ask Les how many. Another thing that sticks in Art Shipkey's playing a Thanksgiving day football game for Orange. Art and Ted and Harry Shipkey were the boys that made Orion history.

You remember Ted and Harry at Stanford. Art was playing hard that day and it looked bad for Orange when a big galloper came through the whole team toward the goal. Art took a dislike to the fellow and tackled him. That was the hardest tackle ever made in this vicinity. When Art hit the guy it made so much noise you couldn't even hear the fans cheer.

That also is ancient history, now. Maybe even Art doesn't remember it. But it happened.

STANFORD'S FIRST AMERICAN GAME

There's one feller that came from Orange that the sports fans never heard of, probably. But he should have a toe hold in sports history for recovering a fumble in the first game of American football played by Stanford. That ought to be worth something—even if Stanford did lose to California by something like 38 to 0.

This boy's name is Gilford Rowland and he was just about in the flyweight class as far as size was concerned. But he's in the heavyweight class when it comes to brains, being now a member of the board of governors of the State Bar association.

They'll tell you it wasn't a real Stanford team—just the Student Army Training corps during the World war. Anyway the boys got out behind the dormitory after breakfast and practiced some. Rowland was with them but on account of his size he didn't make the first team.

Came the California game and in the fourth quarter the Berkeley boys had laid all the Stanford subs stretched out in a row in the shower room. All but Rowland. The score was about 30 to 0, or maybe 130 to 0 then. Somehow or other California got careless and fumbled. A lot of Red Shirts went after the ball, but they didn't have much speed left. The thing kept rolling. Rowland, playing safety, made a dash for it. Small though he was, he folded himself around it like a tent. Stanford had the ball!

And then the gun went off.

Well, it was something to have played in the first American game between Stanford and California. Something to remember to have recovered a fumble in that game.

Two seasons after that California came out with its Wonder Team.

Rowland decided to become a member of the board of governors instead of a quarterback. Now he's recovering fumbles for other folks in the courtroom.

LOUIS WINS TAG GAME FROM PASTOR

Anaheim to Battle Orange for League Honors

HILLERS TAKE COMMAND IN B DIVISION

Oilers Lose, 29-14, As Garden Grove Drops 44-11 Decision

Anaheim and Orange today were heading straight toward a "natural"—a battle for the championship of the major division of the Orange County Basketball league, while Tustin roosted second in undisputed possession of the minor division leadership.

Anaheim smothered Leon W. Minor's beach city Oilers last night, 29-14, while Orange was walking away from the humble Garden Grove quintet, 44-11.

In the minor division Tustin tumbled San Juan Capistrano out of first place with convincing 31-14 victory. The Brea-Orinda-Valencia game was postponed.

B Game Hot Probably the hottest game of the evening was the B encounter at Anaheim, which saw the Oilers coped after three sizzling overtime periods, 24-22. The lead in this game changed 13 times. Earl Conrad of Huntington Beach tied it up with a free throw, just three seconds before the gun, to send it into its first overtime period.

Louis Clifford of the Oilers was the hero, dumping in a field basket in the third overtime to win the game, and run his point total up to 15.

Sam Francis Hero Orange enjoyed a field day against Garden Grove, using 11 players in running up its huge score. Scheldmeyer was high point man, with 18.

Center Sam Francis of Tustin had a hot evening against Capistrano, scoring 21 points for individual honors. Last week against Anaheim he was held pointless.

HAMILTON, Bermuda. (P)—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez today received his 1937 contract and immediately said he thought the New York Yankees had made a mistake by sending him the bat boy's contract.

Gomez, who drew down $20,000 last year for his southpaw slants which failed to baffle opposing batsmen as effectively as in the past, said the new contract showed a difference of $7500 from last year's contract. In other words, it was estimated the Yankees had offered him $12,500.

"I'd rather stay in Bermuda than play baseball at that figure," said Gomez as he mailed the contract back to New York without reading the full details.

GOMEZ REFUSES NEW CONTRACT

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Ed B. Deen, president, the pari-mutuel staff at Santa Anita park, will be in charge of the betting department of the new Del Mar, Calif., race track at its 25-day meeting starting July 3.

Appointment of Deen, well known in California turf circles, was announced by William A. Quigley, general manager of the Del Mar turf club.

Umpire Signs 1937 Contract

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Umpire Ray Snyder sent his signed contract for 1937 to President W. C. Tuttle of the Coast league today.

Snyder, in his nine years of professional umpiring, never has missed a game, and even a broken jaw three years ago did not cause him to take a vacation. He came to the Coast league in 1933.

BARNEY ROSS DECISIONS MANFREDO

DETROIT, (P)—Busy-fisted Barney Ross, who complained recently about a shortage of opposition for the defense of his welterweight boxing crown, viewed today a field further reduced—at his own hands.

Ross, giving away five and a half pounds decisively whipped Al Manfredo, Fresno, Calif., challenger, in a ten round non-title bout last night, thus disposing of a foe whose backers were proud to regard as Pacific coast champion.

The speedy Ross, scoring knockdowns in the third and eighth rounds after starting slow, incidentally helped to give Promoter Jack Kearns with an agreeable start in his new vocation.

Jack Dempsey's ex-manager, who used to "count the gate" from his boxer's corner, estimated his 6,286 crowd as "fair enough" with seen from the promoter's angle. He pointed out only 3,000 more than that saw Ross defend his title against Izzy Jannazzo in New York.

BEN MORGAN TO MEET WINNER Big Ben Morgan, the giant hill-billy who looms as the most powerful and strongest heavyweight wrestler in the game, may meet the winner of Monday night's three-fall match between Sammy Stein and Tiny Roebuck, Promoter Sampson announced today.

Sampson also is angling for Vincent Lopez to meet the winner and expects definite word not later than Monday evening.

Morgan faces Herb Freeman in the 45-minute semi with Dr. Len Hall opposing Jack McArthur and Bob Coleman drawing Johnny Broges.

MARINO BLASTS OUT VICTORY SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—Babe Marino, San Francisco middleweight, chalked up a ten-round decision over Johnny Dias today and levelled his sights on Young Corbett of Fresno for a possible match next month.

Dias, Portuguese fighter from Fall River, Mass., landed a few hard rights to Marino's chin but the San Francisco steady punching apparently won the referee's favor. There were no knockdowns.

Marino weighed 156 and Dias 162.

TROJANS TOP BASKETBALL SCRAMBLE

Pin Indians Ears Back 42-39 in Desperate Cage Encounter

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Southern California's wily basketball team slipped Stanford's champion Redskins a bitter pill last night—labeled "42-to-39"—and today ruled as undisputed leader of the Pacific coast conference southern division.

Trailing until the last four minutes of play, the hometown Trojans sneaked ahead by a narrow margin and held it while the frantic Indians vainly tried to get the ball.

Luisetti Stars Tonight the rivals met in the windup of a two-game series at Pan-Pacific auditorium, where a turnaway crowd of 8000 massed last night.

The luster of Stanford's Hank Luisetti was undimmed in defeat as the lanky Italian boy tallied 17 points for scoring honors, but the team play of the Indians fell apart in the final crisis.

It was a fiery sophomore, Clem Ruh, who sparked the Trojans to their fifth conference triumph. He went in when S. C. was behind 37 to 34 and calmly sank two free throws after being fouled. A moment later he took a fast pass and arched it into the basket to put Troy ahead for the first time, 38 to 37.

S. C. Stalls Capt. Dinty Moore of the Indians came back with a field goal, his tenth and eleventh points of the game, but Ruh steamed backward again and the Trojans led, 40 to 39 with less than two minutes to go.

Southern California "froze" the ball, and the desperate Stanford three times were called on fouls trying to take it away. Two of the gift shots became Trojan points before the gun sounded.

PETEY HAYES DECISIONED

HOLLYWOOD, (P)—Everett Rightmire's Lightning right won the Sioux City, Iowa, featherweight a ten-round victory over Petey Hayes, New York veteran, last night.

Hayes managed to win only two rounds, the third on a foul and the ninth by a shade. In the sixth he was hit by a right cross and took nine counts on the canvas.

Rightmire, 128, was a half-pound heavier than Hayes.

The Iowa's manager, Tommy O'Loughlin, announced today he would leave shortly for the east, taking with him Perfecto Lopez, crack Mexican lightweight of Los Angeles, whose contract he bought last week.

GARDEN GROVE GROWERS RECEIVE $310,697 FOR 1936 HARVEST

10 PER CENT INCREASE IS TOLD

Manager Whipp Reports at Annual Meeting This Morning

GARDEN GROVE. — Showing a substantial increase over returns for the 1935 season, ranchers affiliated with the Garden Grove Citrus association received $310,697 gross returns for 1936 field boxes of fruit, as compared with $276,989 in 1935.

This report was made by E. C. Whipp, manager, at the usual meeting of the citrus association, this morning at the association house.

Show Increase
Figures for the past year showed an increase of 10.8 per cent over the 1935 season, in spite of the fact that 27 per cent less fruit was shipped in 1936, Whipp reported.

"While the outward appearance of the 1936 crop was poor, due to the wind damage, and caused a low percentage of Sunlight grade, the eating quality of the fruit was good and was well received by the trade and on the whole proved of better quality than the 1935 crop," Whipp said.

Labor costs during the past year amounted to $37,869, while an additional amount of $24,962 spent for materials largely was spent for labor. Manager Whipp stated as the major part of the materials require considerable labor in their making. At the peak of the season 130 persons were given employment in the house and fields, he added.

Damage Told
"The recent cold spell," he said, "has undoubtedly damaged considerable fruit and the house, in order to be prepared to ship all fruit fit for human consumption, has just contracted for one of the newly developed floriscopes, which acts as an X-ray in picking out frozen fruit."

Other speakers at the meeting were Clarence Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange and J. O. Cook, Jr., secretary of the California Fruit Growers exchange.

Cooperating with growers in an attempt to save money following the recent cold wave and resultant destruction of fruit, packinghouse officials postponed the annual turkey dinner served to members.

P.T.A. FOUNDED TO BE NOTED

COSTA MESA. — Observing Founder's Day Costa Mesa Elementary P.T.A. members will meet on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the music room of the Main Union school.

Mrs. Harry Brown, fourth district president, will be guest of honor, giving a special Founder's Day talk. Carrying on a custom now widely observed among California Parent-Teacher associations, a deodar cedar will be planted on the school grounds observing the 14th anniversary of the National P.T.A. Mrs. Brown will officiate with Henry Abrams, general superintendent, receiving the gift.

Pair Hostesses At Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE. — A colorful Mexican theme was chosen by Miss Jennie Clark and Miss Ruby Aabel for a party when they entertained at Miss Clark's home on East Stanford avenue Wednesday evening. Prizes were won by Miss Marjorie Ann Mathis, Mrs. Nell Newcomb and Mrs. Winifred Wright. Other guests were Mrs. Thalia Larson, Misses Pauline Riley, Jeanette Roby and Marjorie Krone.

Costa Mesa Club Plans Food Sale

COSTA MESA. — Members of Mrs. George Ragan's circle of the Friday Afternoon club will hold a cooked-food sale Saturday beginning at 10:30 a. m.

The sale will be held in the Ragan building, south of the Post-office, the proceeds to go to the club.

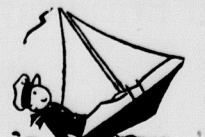

Tin Cans, Shorts Bring Giggles at Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH. — Southern California's famed sunshine came in for some subtle ribbing this week when a facetious of Laguna attired in the summer-time costume of shorts.

Which in itself would not necessarily be worthy of comment except that the visitor also was wearing a string of tin cans about his neck.

Asked to explain his clothes, the stranger remarked he had heard that shorts were the acceptable attire in Laguna, while the tin cans represented the Southern California smudge pots.

Along the County's Waterfront + + +

DON'T believe a word of it! The papers say we're going to have nasty, rainy weather over the week-end, and for sailors to stay safe at home. But they're all wet one night say. It's going to be nice sailing weather on Sunday. (I hope).

Scattered sprinkles and gusty winds—that's the prediction. From the busy bustle at the harbor during the past two days, lots of yachtsmen are going to give it a whirl tomorrow. Good method of drying sails!

Before swinging into our regular song and dance, it's appropriate to mention tides—as if anyone cared! Only one high'n on Sunday, and that a sort of half-hearted attempt at 11:43 a. m., when it'll be three-foot-eight. Couple of lows at 6:07 a. m. and 5:51 p. m. Now we can continue!

Blackfish, or to put it more sensationally, killer whales, were seen in Newport Bay waters this week, according to Steve Smith. He said they were the first he had sighted this year, but that once Newport Bay was family headquarters for the big fellows. Porpoise is their preference for a blue plate lunch, as it were, but when hungry they are not too choosy, according to Steve (Story-a-Day) Smith.

Speaking of boat movements, since his miniature boats on his miniature Newport Bay model, feature of the Balboa table at the chamber of commerce annual dinner, failed to function as planned, E. L. (Leisurely Life) Sherman, they say, has converted his garage into a model boat-motion works. These boats are going to work, that's all!

Compass corrections mean nothing when Deacon (Sandy Hook) Davis enters a chart house, according to waterfront wags. He is so full of war-time shrapnel, the needle does nip-ups, they say.

Ardent Yachtsman Paul Bodenhamer, who first gained renown by hoisting his jib up-side down, is fleeing the flu, and as a flu-fleeer he's not so hot, on account of he's been in the place where they have white beds and nice looking nurses.

Bodenhamer, this department heard, almost went off the deep end worrying about "conchita," his pride and joy anchored at Beecher's. Couple more days and he'll be re-vanishing and swimming brass with the best of 'em.

New Pacific Skipper appears, all dressed up, and nicely, too. Lots of art work, interesting articles and quite a bit of business. One picture by Photographer Hitchcock, Balboa, is masterpiece.

One thing is sure, the new Harbor-master's office building will be more in keeping with the type of boating featured on Newport Bay, according to City Councilman Lloyd Clair. Yachtsmen will find it more to their liking than the barracks building now serving its last days, he feels sure.

The old building, used by the Army engineers during the bay dredging operations, has been sold and will be moved to Costa Mesa, it was reported.

SCREEN FAVORITES COME TO WEST COAST IN ROMANTIC DRAMA

GRETA STARS IN CAMILLE SUNDAY

Robert Taylor Appears Opposite Actress in Love Drama

"Camille" with Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor as its sensational co-starring team, brings mutual distinction to Hollywood's two most glamorous stars and comes to the Fox West Coast theater tomorrow.

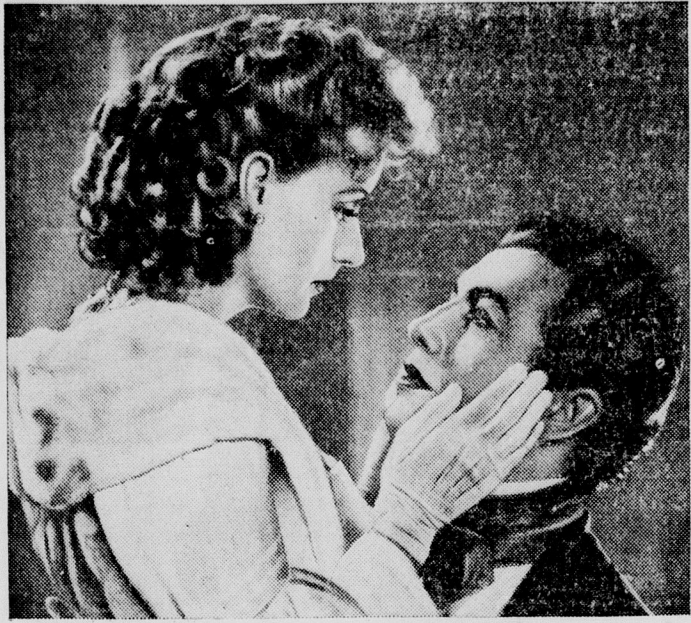

George Cukor, the director of "Romeo and Juliet," again displays the genius of his power in his superb direction of "Camille." The notable supporting cast includes Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Jessie Ralph, Henry Daniell, Lenore Ulric and Laura Hope Crews.

The Alexander Dumas love classic of "The Lady of the Camellias" provides a brilliant vehicle for the glamorous Garbo. She gives an unforgettable intensity to the most dramatic role of her brilliant career. Taylor, whose amazing success in a brief two years on the screen has made him an international figure, comes into his own as a dramatic actor of rare talent in the exacting role of Armand.

The story is too well remembered to require description, but the glory of Paris in the period of Dumas is recreated with magnificent artistry and the dramatic love of Camille and Armand is portrayed with all the power of the original.

Briefly the story is that of a gorgeous woman who fell in love with a dashing youth when it was far from her original intention. She was a woman of the world, intending to lavish her charms on the wealthy Baron de Varville, when she met Armand Duval. The story of their love that was stronger than destiny, weaker only than death itself, brings Garbo to the screen in her greatest role and offers Taylor the most powerful part he has yet portrayed.

Garbo and Taylor at West Coast

Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor are shown here in a scene from "Camille" which opens at the Fox West Coast theater on Sunday.

Romance in Days of '49

Warner Baxter and Ann Loring are shown above in a romantic scene from the thrilling production of the days of '49 in California, "Robin Hood of El Dorado," which opens at the State theater tomorrow with a second feature, "Hideaway Girl."

LAMSON FILM OF DOOMED MAN TO SHOW HERE

"Condemned Row," based on "We Who Are About To Die," written by David Lamson while confined in prison condemned to die for the death of his wife, has been filmed and will be brought to Santa Ana to the Fox Broadway theater on Feb. 6, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain. Lamson later was given a new trial, the jury disagreed and he was released.

Preston Foster, Ann Dvorak and John Beal are seen in the feature roles.

The story describes how a young aviation engineer, played by Beal, becomes the victim of a vicious frameup by a group of gangsters who rob an airplane factory, murder the cashier and kill a child in their headlong "hit-and-run" escape. Planted evidence and the misguided testimony of respectable citizens blinded by public feeling, together with the work of a politically-ambitious district attorney campaigning for governorship on a platform of criminal convictions, combine to make an open-and-shut case against the helpless boy.

Tried, convicted and sentenced to hang, he is sent to the penitentiary to await his execution. Meantime his sweetheart fights desperately to save him from his fate by persuading an enterprising police investigator to uncover evidence leading to the conviction of the real criminals, two of whom are lodged in the same prison.

Orange Film Star Flies to President's Celebration

Orange will be represented at the President's birthday ball, held at Washington, D. C., tonight, by La Verne Brown, a native son, who literally flew to fame as a movie actor, and who is known in pictures as John Trent.

Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brown, 232 South Olive street, and for two years was an airline transport pilot, flying between Kansas City and New York. Last summer B. P. Schulberg, a producer, rode in the plane piloted by Brown to New York, and made his acquaintance. The producer invited him to lunch, where he proposed a movie test. From this test began Brown's movie career.

Monday morning Brown left Burbank, flying a plane and accompanied by a committee from the studio. He will deliver the film of his picture to the principal cities of the United States, where it will be shown, the first time an actor has ever flown his own delivery plane. Today he flew to Washington and the President's ball.

Speaking of his first picture work, Brown said, "I was pretty scared. Being in the movies is a darn sight worse than losing both your wings in a down draft."

Directors say he is a natural actor. His parents were guests when his picture was previewed at Westwood, several weeks ago, but his mother insists she must see the picture again.

"I was so excited," she said, "I just don't remember how the story ended."

Communities Organize to Gather Flood Funds

Each community in Santa Ana Red Cross chapter's territory has been organized under a chairman to facilitate the collection of relief money for the flood sufferers in the Midwest and the chapter asks that funds be turned to the community branch.

Branch chairmen in this territory are Mrs. C. C. Violett, Garden Grove (including Westminster and Bolsa); Mrs. Mary Eckberg, Seal Beach and Sunset Beach; Dr. Lawrence Whitaker, Huntington Beach (including Smeltzer, Midway City and Ocean View); Mrs. George Teaney, Costa Mesa, and Thomas Cummings, Laguna Beach. Unorganized communities in the district are San Clemente, where Mrs. Maud Murphy is in charge; San Juan Capistrano, Mrs. Paul Esslinger, E. P. Evans and William Henning at the Bank of America; Newport Beach, Balboa and Balboa Island, Mrs. Frank Lewis and Gordon Findlay, and Tustin, the Tustin bank.

JEAN ARTHUR APPEARS IN COMEDY

Riotous fun and sophisticated comedy characterize the newest, smartest, and one of the most thoroughly amusing pictures of the year. It is "More Than a Secretary," starring Jean Arthur and George Brent, which opens tomorrow at the Fox Broadway theater.

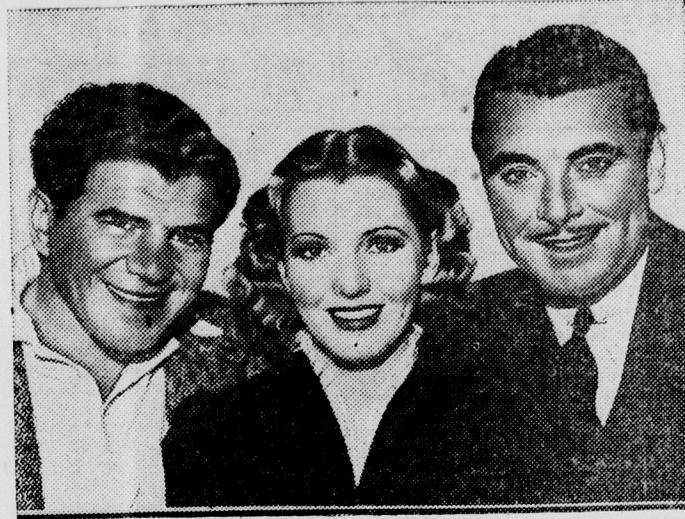

The story concerns Jean Arthur and Ruth Donnelly, co-owners of a secretarial school for girls. Dorothy Kent, a blonde bombshell, but rather vacant in the cranium, is expelled, but before leaving drops a few not-very-subtle hints to her teachers regarding the advantages of sex appeal over stenographic efficiency. To prove her point, she wiggles her way into a job as Reginald Denny's private secretary who meets the handsome gentleman in the office on her way out.

Jean is amazed, but sighs and wonders if the dizzy little pupil isn't right after all. When, on the following day, Jean interviews George Brent, editor of a health magazine, about the secretaries her school has been providing, she soon finds herself hired instead. Telling Dorothy's advice she beautifies and humanizes herself to attract the introspective Brent, but the health editor is a bran fed food faddist who can find no time for romance.

Through a farcical turn of the plot, Brent inherits Dorothy as his secretary, so he promotes Jean to associate editorship. Jean doesn't mind Dorothy's presence so much until Brent starts going places with her and neglects the magazine. From that point the battle of Miss Arthur to win her man away from the blonde begins. It is a merry one, high with suspense and lightly touched a time or two with a shade of sympathetic pathos.

Lionel Stander, Raucous-voiced comedian, runs away with half a dozen of the scenes in which he appears as the editor's trainer and "Man Friday."

To Sparkle at Broadway

Lionel Stander, Jean Arthur and George Brent stand out in "More Than a Secretary" which opens at the Fox Broadway theater tomorrow.

Adventurer and Savages

Capt. Edward Salisbury, noted explorer who will appear in person on the Walker theater stage starting Sunday, is shown here with Gow head hunters returning from a raid.

'PLAINSMAN' TO END TONIGHT

"The Plainsman" starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur, which opened at the Fox Broadway theater and because of popular demand was held over for the Fox West Coast theater, will come to a close this evening at the latter theater.

"The Plainsman" is one of the best pictures of the year and one of the best ever directed by Cecil B. DeMille.

Packed houses greeted the picture at the Fox Broadway and because hundreds were unable to see it during the short engagement at that theater Manager Lester J. Fountain transferred it to the West Coast, where it continues to draw large crowds.

Fear Japanese Volcano Eruption

TOKYO. (AP)—Seismologists expressed fear today that the great Kirishima volcanic chain, one of the largest in Japan, may be on the verge of eruption after a long period of quiet.

Their alarm was based on seismograph recordings of 161 distinct earth shocks in that area between Jan. 1 and today.

The scientists' fear was increased by earthquakes yesterday near Mount Aso, also on Kyushu island, which were sharp enough to force inhabitants to flee in panic.

Strike Ties Up Mono Water Job

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Work on the $7,000,000 Mono basin project which will increase Los Angeles municipal water supply by 40 per cent was tied up by a strike.

More than 800 men were employed digging the 11½ mile tunnel which will bring the water into the Owens valley aqueduct. Strike leaders said all but the maintenance crew, a small group, walked out last Monday.

LAW TO CURB SEEKERS FLOOD UNTRUTHS WORK QUIZ

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Members of the lower house of Tennessee's legislature studied today a bill designed to mete out severe punishment to any newspaper editor or publisher who allows "any untruth" about a person to be printed in a paper's editorial columns.

The senate passed the bill yesterday, 29 to 1.

The proposal, introduced by Senator Fletcher Morgan of Chattanooga, provides a fine of $50 to $500 for violation and a lifetime expulsion from serving as editor or publisher of any newspaper in the state. Also it makes executives liable for "damages to any person or persons" up to $1,000.

Morgan in urging the senate to pass the bill, said newspaper editors "are almost immune from being reached by libel laws. No man is free from their besmirching attacks."

American occupation of the Panama Canal Zone began in 1904, though the canal was not completed until 1915.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative O'Malley (D-Wis.) introduced a resolution today calling for a congressional investigation of plans and contracts on flood control construction projects on the Mississippi and Ohio rivers. Asserting he had information which "clearly indicates that the American tax payers have not received one half of what they have paid for," O'Malley said favored contractors, design companies, engineering firms and "pork-barrel" pursuers had profited from federal expenditures designed for flood control.

Bookie Equipment Nabbed in North

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Four men were arrested and thousands of dollars worth of equipment was seized in the first raids under the recently enacted city ordinance prohibiting horse race bookmaking.

SMART GIRLS, STATE SHOWS ADVENTURER AT WALKER ROBIN HOOD PICTURE

Captain Edward A. Salisbury, noted explorer and lecturer, who visits in far corners of the earth in search of strange adventures and thrill, will be at the Walker's theater in person for three days starting Sunday, with his new talking picture, "Gow," the story of the greatest headhunter ever known.

Captain Salisbury has visited more savage tribes than any other man. Often he has staked his life on his wits when among the cannibals on the islands of the western Pacific, a part of the world where it is no joking matter for a white man to be seen.

The picture is the story of the great Chief Gow, the terror of the western Solomons and other islands where the most uncivilized people in the world reside.

"Gow," as presented by Captain Salisbury, is one of the best adventure pictures to be shown and its authenticity is unquestioned.

The second feature on the double bill is "Three Smart Girls," sparkling Universal comedy drama featuring Deanna Durbin, Nan Grey and Barbara Read in the title roles, and Binnie Barnes and Charles Winninger in the supporting roles. Miss Durbin, who has been singing on Eddie Cantor's national broadcasts, makes her film debut in this picture. The fun is swift, the dialogue brightly written and the action merrily paced. Short subjects on this bill include a cartoon, "Coconut Grove" and world news.

On the bill opening Wednesday and running four days are "Banjo on My Knee" and "Cimarron." Co-starring in "Banjo on My Knee" are Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea. The film is an engrossing drama, with music.

Entertainment of contrasting nature is afforded in the double feature program with "Hideaway Girl," which opens a three-day engagement at the State theater tomorrow.

Warner Baxter is starred in "Robin Hood of El Dorado," the spectacular outdoor picture which heralded the return of epic photoplays. Filmed in the "Mother Lode" country of California, the picture tells of the adventurous life of Joaquin Murrieta, dashing good-bad man of the days of '49.

With the casting of Shirley Ross in the feminine lead of "Hideaway Girl," a gay musical mystery play, the charming actress is co-starring with Martha Raye. Both have roles similar to those they had in "The Big Broadcast of 1937." Miss Raye is a singing comedienne and Miss Ross has the feminine romantic lead opposite Robert Cummings.

The double bill opening Wednesday at the State features "3 Married Men," a smashing comedy hit with Roscoe Karns, William Frayne and Lynne Overman, who read a cast that includes Mary Brian, George Barbier and Marjorie Gateson. The second film is "Back to Nature."

Nevada Ratifies Child Labor Law

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Nevada joined the list of states that have ratified the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution today when the assembly, by a vote of 30 to 8, adopted a ratification resolution previously passed by the senate.

BROADWAY HAS DOUBLE BILL

"Plough and the Stars," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Preston Foster, which has been playing to large crowds at the Fox Broadway theater, will come to a close with this evening's showing.

The bill at the Fox Broadway has a second top liner in "Smart Blonde." In this picture, Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane are teamed. The adventures depicted concern the running down of the murderer of Joseph Crehan and Max Warner, underworld characters.

Involved in the killings are Winifred Shaw, Addison Richards, Charlotte Winters and David Carlyle. As the plot unfolds everyone save MacLane and Miss Farrell fall under suspicion.

Runciman Sails Without Talking

NEW YORK. (AP)—Refusing to answer any question relating to Anglo-American affairs, Walter Runciman, president of the British board of trade, sailed for London on the liner Aquitania.

Runciman spent last week-end at the White House as the guest of President Roosevelt, when preliminary conversations were held on a British-American trade pact.

U. C. Enrollment At Record High

BERKELEY. (AP)—Registration for the spring term at the University of California reached an all time high with 13,800 students enrolled, Registrar Thomas Steel said today. Of this total, 10,748 are undergraduate and 2,332 graduate students.

Traditional Box of Candy is Passed at Friday Luncheon of Lowell Teachers

Wintersburg Is Home Of Newlyweds

Santa Ana wedding chapel was chosen as the setting for the wedding Tuesday at the twilight hour of Miss Helen E. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Golden Brown of Boulevard gardens, and Homer Slater, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Slater of Wintersburg, with Bishop Russell B. Rodgson of the Church of the Latter Day Saints, Long Beach, reading the marriage lines.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an afternoon gown of turquoise crepe and carried an arm bouquet of Tullam roses. She was attended by Miss Edith Brush, who wore a frock of tangerine crepe with a corsage of gardenias. Miss Helen Murray, playing the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and the Mendelssohn's "Recessional."

Verne Breeding attended the groom as best man. The newly married couple left immediately after the ceremony for an unannounced destination to spend their honeymoon and upon their return will take possession of a home prepared for them on Wintersburg road.

Included among the friends and relatives present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. William F. Slater, parents of the groom and the Misses Alice, June and Betty Slater, Billy Slater, and Fred Slater, Long Beach; Ralph Clay, Wintersburg; Bonnie Fox, Doris and Faye Dodge, Huntington Beach; Joe Steinhilber, Anaheim; Frances Hill, Midway City; Florence and Helen Murray, Mrs. K. D. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Brush, Phyllis and Edith Brush, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jensen, Fern and Shirley Jensen, Ralph Wetzel, Clark, Ross Melvin and Ruth Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Breeding, Ocean View; Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell, Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jordan, Santa Ana.

TWO ENTERTAIN AT SORORITY PARTY

Colors of the St. Valentine holiday graced the pretty tables at which members of Sigma Tau Psi sorority members and guests were seated Thursday night at the S. B. Kaufman home, 901 Lowell street, when Miss Vivian Kaufman and Miss Virginia Graves presided as co-hostesses.

The rush party followed the regular meeting of the sorority. Entertainment was provided by tables of bridge and cootie, with prizes in both games at the conclusion.

The evening started with the refreshment course, which was served at small tables appointed in red and white and each centered with a single red candle. Little heart-shaped nut cups marked the places of the guests.

Sigma Tau Psi girls are planning a house party at Laguna Beach during the spring vacation in March.

Sorority members present were the Mesdames Gene Anderson, Woodrow Barnett, Fayette Birch, Herbert Hill, Thomas Jentes, Terry Stephenson, Jr., and Ed Sugden, and the Misses Jean Berry, Fern Berkner, Dolly Cox, Genevieve Berkner, Alyce and Mary Emil Majors, Georgia Turner, Marius Hutchings, Dorothy Skelly, Betty Marsden, Jane Hill, Lucy Holmes, and Marjorie Berkner, and the two hostesses.

WOMEN'S BOARD HAS SESSION

The executive committee of the Woman's society of the First Baptist church was entertained at a buffet luncheon at the home of Mrs. L. Stearns ranch home on East Santa Clara avenue. Mrs. Stearns was assisted in preparing and serving the appetizing meal by Mrs. A. F. Hill, Mrs. John Newcomer, and Miss Ida Nay.

A business session in charge of Miss Lulu Minter, president, and Mrs. George Lippincott, secretary, resulted in a discussion of constitutional and by-law changes, and the recommendation of the purchase of flat silver and water glasses was recommended to the society.

Those present at the meeting were the Mesdames Harry Evan Owens, Harry Harlow, Earl Morris, J. P. Williams, O. S. Catland, Jennie H. Crawford, W. H. Lockett, P. J. Reifel, John Vernon, A. M. Robinson, F. W. Looze, P. A. Kilburn, E. Steffen, Minnie Holmes, W. G. Dietrich, J. R. Farwell, John C. James, P. E. McBurney, Charles G. Nalle, W. A. Atkinson, C. W. Nash, C. W. Brakeman, L. C. Fairbanks, R. E. Coulter, Miss Gertrude Minor, Miss Effie White and Miss Elizabeth Robinson.

AULD LANG SYNE CLUB
Auld Lang Syne group will have its monthly all-day sewing meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. W. Stratton, 901 West Fourth street. Mrs. Stratton will entertain the members at luncheon in memory of her mother, Mrs. Hiermerding, a former active and much-loved member of the group.

Three Brides Of The Month

Almost the last day of the old year, Dec. 30, was the wedding date of Miss Helen E. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Golden Brown, above, and David Merle Boyle, popular Santa Ana couple, whose marital vows were exchanged in St. Anne's Catholic rectory, Palm Springs in their new home. Mrs. Boyle is the daughter of Mrs. James Colombini of Fairview road.

Santa Ana Wedding chapel was the setting on Tuesday for the wedding of Miss Helen Brown, above, and Homer Slater, who were married at the twilight hour that afternoon. The new Mrs. Slater is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Golden Brown of Boulevard Gardens.

Mrs. Horace Lee Church, above, was Miss Rosamond Helen Hannah before her marriage Jan. 22 in Las Vegas, Nev. Returning to Santa Ana, where Dr. Church has a dental practice and Mrs. Church is home economics director for the Southern Counties Gas company, the newlyweds are living at 1525 North Broadway.

TWENTY-TWO BABIES GO TO SCHOOL

Editor's note: This is another of a series of special articles which Dr. Mary E. Wright is preparing for The Journal on the subject of women in unusual occupations. Others will follow.

Even taking cod liver oil is fun when it is made a party as it is out at Hoover school every afternoon for the 22 little boys and girls between two and one-half and five years of age who attend the federal nursery school supervised by Mrs. Lee Frances Barrett. The school is the result of requests made three years ago by the mothers of Santa Ana for a project of this kind to care for children of families on relief or near relief.

With the approval of Frank Henderson, superintendent of the local schools, it was started under the adult education project of the W.P.A. in a room in the Franklin school.

After three months, it was moved to the McKinley school building, and then last fall, because of shortage of space, it was again compelled to move, this time to the Hoover building. Here they have the needed room and equipment, but not in the locality in which these children live.

Mrs. Barrett has two assistants, and all are university graduates and accredited teachers under the pay of the government. She herself took special training in the University of Iowa for this work. Her helpers are Miss Martha Steele and Mrs. Clara Galbraith.

Only One in County
This is the only school of its kind for Anglo-Saxon children in Orange county, though Orange has started one like it for Mexican children.

Twenty-two children are enrolled in the local school, one coming from Anaheim and one from five miles out in the country. The others from Santa Ana. Thirty children could be cared for, it is stated, but, because of the stipulation as to the finances of the parents, some who would like to attend cannot be enrolled.

Object of the school is to provide adequate health, nutritional, rest, and physical care program for young children.

Children Examined
Dr. Stella Davis, the examining physician, gives the children a thorough inspection twice a week, advising teachers and mothers. Sanitary conditions are watched closely by the teachers, and the children are taught regular habits in their daily routine. Their food is supervised by University of California dietitians.

The children are in school from one to six o'clock every day. They take a rest during the afternoon, have their daily portions of cod liver oil and orange juice, and at five o'clock they have a well-balanced meal in preparation of which strict attention has been paid to the vitamin contents.

Equipped for Play
The playroom is an attractive, light, airy room with the right amount of heat, and well equipped with low tables, small chairs, blackboards low enough for the children to reach, a slide not high enough to cause falls, and big, hollow building blocks with which rooms, bridges, caves, and other things dear to childish hearts can be constructed.

One of the main objectives of the three who devote their time to this work is to teach the children harmonious play, consideration of the rights and comforts of others, and to prepare them to meet life cheerfully.

Luncheon in R. H. Hall Home

Mrs. Roy Hall and Mrs. H. T. Dunning entertained at a prettily arranged bridge luncheon yesterday in the former's home on South Birch street, choosing a predominantly yellow color scheme in their appointments for tables and flowers through the rooms.

First prize in the contract games for the afternoon went to Mrs. J. E. Liebig, and second to Mrs. Wade Warner.

TWO ENTERTAIN IN FAREWELL
Mrs. L. R. Stearns and Mrs. Edith Matthews recently entertained the past chiefs of Tustin Pythian Sisters temple, honoring especially Mrs. J. Harbour, who, with Mr. Harbour and their children are moving soon to the state of Washington.

Participating in the courtesy with Mrs. Harbour and the two hostesses were the Mesdames Jessie Kiser, Bertha Trickey, Vera Hawkins, Sarah Mae Mathews, Molly Smith, Edna Squires, Gladys Perozzi, Ethel Powers, Vera Comer, Emma Cochem, Don P. Shairne, Lottie Nordstrom, Emma Shairne, and Ora Collier.

MAYFLOWER CLUB
Mayflower club will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. V. C. Shidler, 1129 South Garnsey street, with Mrs. F. W. Sanford as co-hostess.

of small, army cot style beds about one foot high, which were made for the school by WPA workers. Linen is provided by the teachers. Each mother fixes these for her own child, and there is much competition among them, each trying to make hers the most attractive.

Around this room are small lockers in which each child hangs his clothes when he removes them for his nap. Lockers are marked, not with names, but with cards depicting roosters, rabbits, kittens, etc. Each child knows his own label.

If a child cannot sleep, he is nevertheless required to keep quiet, and is given a book to entertain him while he lies and rests.

Value to mothers in this project lies in the meetings for conferences with the teachers. This gives them an unbiased view of how their children react to the companionship of others under care. Especially interesting are the reactions shown by the "only" child in a family to any playmate.

In some cities, it is pointed out, service clubs have given financial aid and helped in getting necessary equipment for these projects of protecting health and welfare of children in homes where the income of $60 a month or less is insufficient to give them the care they need.

The three at the head of the local project enjoy their work, and because they enjoy it they are able to give these little children the devoted care and the supervision they need, filling this most necessary place in the community.

FORMER IOWANS HAVE REUNION DINNER HERE

Former Osceola, Iowa, friends were gathered together for a happy day on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson, 421 South Broadway. Mrs. Johnson assembled a group of 24 for a noon chicken dinner and an afternoon full of reminiscing and chat.

Co-hosts with the Johnsons were their daughter, Mrs. Paul Johnson, who is here from Modesto, and Mrs. Vida Hinyon.

Presides centered the two long tables at which the guests were seated, and these same blossoms were combined with red berries for decoration in the living room. Those enjoying the get-together were Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Hollenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitlock, and the latter's sister, Miss Emma Trent, Mrs. Clyde Craigton and Mrs. Marion Wasson, all former Osceolans now living in Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armstrong, Mrs. Fannie Slaymaker and Elton Rafferty, out here from Osceola for the winter; Mrs. Dora Lewis and son, Richard, of San Juan Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Warner of Santa Ana, and the four hosts, all of whom have at one time lived in Osceola.

Also among the guests were Mrs. Hinyon's niece, Miss Betty Seely, and Mrs. Paul Johnson's husband, who arrived the previous evening from Modesto.

HARMONY MEETS TUESDAY
Harmony Bridge club will meet for a 12:30 luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ethel Christian, with Mrs. Jessie Rez as co-hostess. The Christian home is on East Santa Clara street, just east of Tustin avenue.

Birthday Party Chairmen

Mrs. Aldric Worswick has carried over the enthusiasm and admiration of Roosevelt which made her such an ardent Democratic campaigner this fall, and as general chairman of the card party being given tonight in the peacock room of the Ebell clubhouse honoring his birthday anniversary, has been working for several weeks with her committees to make it perfect in every detail.

She stressed the fact today that all the proceeds from the card party, as well as from the vaudeville show being given in the Ebell auditorium, and the ball being given in the Masonic temple, will go to the fund for crippled children, 70 per cent to remain in Orange county, and 30 per cent to go to

Luncheon and Tea Honor Visitors

A rush of charming courtesies has concluded the parties honoring Miss Ella Jones, former Tustin resident, and Miss Belle Cooray, who arrived recently from Ceylon, India, and who have been widely entertained during a stay here of several weeks.

Among the affairs honoring them this week was a luncheon at which Mrs. C. E. Utt presided in her lovely home on Lemon Heights, when Prof. J. J. Zellan, who had been Miss Jones' teacher in her Tustin school days, was included among the guests.

Others sharing the delightful day in the Utt home were Mrs. Zellan, Mrs. Martha Ritchey and her daughter, Miss Mattie Ritchey; Mrs. Eunice Reed of Orange; Miss Agnes Cummings of Los Angeles, sister of Mrs. Utt; Mrs. Ella Brown, a sister of Mr. Utt and a former neighbor of Miss Jones; Mrs. Sarah Brown, with whom the Ceylon visitors have been visiting; and Mr. and Mrs. Utt and the latter's son, Walter Rawlings.

On Thursday, the visitors were honored at a tea in the Christian Advent church of Tustin, and spoke to the assembled hostess group about their life in Ceylon where Miss Jones is head of a missionary school for girls and Miss Cooray a teacher.

The latter, who is a native of India, sang the little song and showed the welcome ritual in which a guest is presented with a garland of flowers; and both she and Miss Jones showed idols from various sections of India.

After their program, tea and refreshments were served from a pretty, lace-covered table centered with garden flowers and divided into sections in pastel colors. Mrs. Virginia Nason and Mrs. Ada Phillips presided.

The Ceylon visitors have a series of speaking engagements in various parts of the United States ahead of them, and were leaving today for Colton, Calif., Pasadena is on their list before they start into the northwest and thence across the states to the east coast. They will sail from Boston for India some time next summer at the end of their year's furlough.

MODERN POETRY SECTION TO HAVE DINNER

Modern Poetry section of Ebell club, at its next meeting, is to have a round-table discussion of the two poets, Joseph Auslander and Audrey Wurdemann, who are giving the general Ebell program next Monday afternoon.

The section meeting is to be a dinner session at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Unitarian church. Mrs. John Tessmann is chairman of the dinner.

O. E. S. MONDAY
Hermosa O. E. S. chapter will have initiation when it meets at 8 p. m. Monday in the Masonic temple. All visiting members are welcome.

Mrs. Worswick also reviewed arrangements for tonight's party, which include the option of playing virtually any card game, progressing or rotating, playing with your own group, or mingling with others, table prizes, delicious refreshments, and the winning of a big birthday cake, donated by Mrs. Terry Stephenson.

She gave particular credit to her assistant chairman, Mrs. John Cloyes, who, although she was a Republican campaigner this fall, has given able and enthusiastic assistance to the Roosevelt festival plans.

Chat Awhile With Betty

Happy birthday today to President Roosevelt, and tomorrow to Rupert Hughes and Eddie Cantor. Such a lot of greatness over one week-end. All of you who were born on January 30 or 31 certainly have a chance of becoming famous—or at least of having five daughters.

Inspired, no doubt, by the cold winds that have been blowing, four Santa Ana couples took to ice skates this week and spent a gay evening on the rink up at Los Angeles polo park.

Making figure eights and cartwheels to the tunes of the rink orchestra were the Mrs. Chandelers, the Edwin Holmeses, the Lawrence Bemises, and the Bob Fernandezes.

The epitome of sympathy to Katherine McDaniel. She had just finished having her bedroom in her new home on North Park boulevard done all in white—including a white carpet cemented to the floor. The decorators had assured her it was far more practical than a darker plain rug. But they didn't take California smudges into consideration. The rug is now a very pearl gray—not even oyster white. So Katherine is sorrowfully contemplating a hands and knees session with soap and water.

And Mrs. H. A. Johnson of Anaheim who has exceptionally beautiful Siamese cats—says they're almost "pure Maltese" now, in coloring. Mrs. John Cloyes' blonde kitty has become a decided brunette, she says—but have you noticed how the really black animals just turned gray?

And Mrs. Robert Miller says her 2-year-old and very flaxen-haired son, Ronald, wakes up every morning with gray hair.

Next week starts out auspiciously for clubwomen of Santa Ana, with Audrey Wurdemann's and Joseph Auslander's poetry symposium Monday afternoon at Ebell club and with the Woman's club's 37th birthday luncheon the following day.

It will be a day of poetry for Ebell, with the poetry section members taking full charge of events and planning a tea for the closing hour of the afternoon, to honor those two famous visitors who will speak.

Moving today were the E. F. Elstrom family, whose lovely new home on Heliotrope Drive has just been completed.

ST. VALENTINE INSPIRES LUNCHEON

Approach of St. Valentine's day, with its gay colors and many unique symbols, is inspiring many of the hostesses of the coming weeks in thoughts of party decorations, red and white appearing as a favorite in color combinations for the next 15 days.

This February motif was the choice of Mrs. Hubert Nall when she entertained her bridge club on Friday at her home on North Ross street.

A Valentine luncheon was served at one table, centered with red candles in silver candelabra. Bridge games followed and first prize for the afternoon was awarded to Mrs. Harold Nelson.

Others sharing Mrs. Nall's hospitality were Mrs. Fred Merker, Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mrs. Harvey Spears, Mrs. William Stauffer, Mrs. Roscoe Hewitt and Mrs. Carl Segerstrom.

June Bride Reveals Plans

Lenora Fernandez Announces June As Wedding Month

When Miss Josephine Goode and Miss McDermott assumed hostess responsibilities yesterday for the usual Friday luncheon at Lowell school, several surprises were in store for the group of teacher friends who gather each week for this informal affair.

The first surprise, honoring Miss Lenora (Lee) Fernandez, came when Miss Juanita Pico and Miss Natalie Neff, two of the teachers, entered, singing in Spanish, "Happy Birthday to You," and bringing a basket of gifts which they set down in front of her.

The little packages, all with happy birthday cards, revealed jokes presents when opened, and inspired much merriment in the group.

A box of candy, the traditional one which announces a coming marriage, provided the second surprise of the delightful luncheon hour, telling of the betrothal of Miss Fernandez and Ralph Culp of Fullerton, who, according to this informal announcement, are to be married next June.

The bride-to-be, a member of an old-time family of the county and a popular member of Lowell's teaching staff, makes her home in Santa Ana with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez, at 2353 Riverside drive.

She is the daughter of Henry Fernandez of 629 Eastwood, Santa Ana, and a graduate of the local schools and of Broad Oaks in Pasadena. For the past three years she has been teaching in Santa Ana, and is a member of the 50-50 dancing club.

Mr. Culp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Culp of Fullerton. His father is on the high school teaching staff in that city and prominent in educational circles of the county.

TOROSAS HEAR MUSIC PROGRAM

A most enjoyable social program and business session were enjoyed by Torosas Rebekahs this week, after a pot-luck supper held in the I. O. O. F. banquet room.

With Irene Lancaster, noble grand, in charge, they made plans for a very busy term, starting a gypsy basket on its way, and making plans for Rebekahs this week, after a pot-luck supper held in the I. O. O. F. banquet room.

Mrs. Ada Paul was program chairman, introducing Miss Genevieve Reed, who gave a reading; Miss Lucille Lambert, who gave a piano solo and a soft shoe; Miss Alice Irvin, who presented a piano solo; Miss Jean Humble who gave a reading, and the Willard senior girls' glee club, under the leadership of Miss Helen Glancey. The glee club was composed of the Mesdames Carl Miller, Lucille Lambert, Numa Hasslet, Marjorie White, Dorothy Frazer, Maxine McGuire, Patsy Tschinnel, Dorothy Thomson, Betty Love, Betty Jean Paul, Helen Lopez, Betty Joe Siefert, Jeanette Wurster, Lenore Lukas, Mary Faries, Margaret Fields and Alice Irvin.

Y. L. I. HONORS PAST OFFICERS

Past presidents of the Young Ladies' Institute filled the chairs at a luncheon meeting held Thursday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Chief among the honored officers was Zola Maag, who was the first president elected after the local group was organized in 1922. She held the place of organizer, while Stella Ingelman was president, Katherine Maag, past president; Loretto Ashen, first vice president; Dorothy Geisler, second vice president, and Tonla Sandon, recording secretary.

Further interest was added to the occasion by the fact that each of the past officers wore a dress she had appeared in during her term of office. This naturally led to many happy reminiscences, which continued during community singing and the serving of refreshments.

Hulstina Chelan of San Diego, Institute deputy, was a honored guest, and Mrs. Maag also presented two charming vocal solos.

SANDRA SHAW ONE YEAR OLD

One tiny candle centering a pretty pink and white birthday cake testified to the age of little Miss Sandra Sharon Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Spencer, 1123 South Garnsey street, when her parents had a very special little dinner celebration for her Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Hanson were pleasant additions to the family circle at the dinner table.

'RISE, SHINE' HOUR HEARD FROM KVOE

Stuart Wilson's Morning Program Broadcast 7 to 8 Daily

The "Rise and Shine" program, one of the most popular daytime radio features over a period of more than two years, lives up to its name.

Under the guidance of "Stu" Wilson, the show has risen in public favor to a "new high" and, effective Monday morning will be given opportunity to shine from KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting System.

Those who have come to depend on this feature as a "getter-upper" and teller of the time of day need not be alarmed. . . the 6:00 to 7:00 a. m. portion will continue to be broadcast by KJH.

It is the 7:00 to 8:00 a. m. period which will be broadcast over the network, daily except Sunday. The latter hour will include a new element.

"Stu" will pass on to his listening friends, between 7:15 and 7:45, many a valuable suggestion as told to him by "The Old Gardener." These tips will be brief, however, and will not alter the general outline of the program.

Modulations From KVOE

"Handing Frosted Orchards" is the topic of the broadcast to be made by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg from KVOE Monday afternoon at 12:15.

Senator Harry C. Westover of Orange county will be a guest speaker on the Monday morning adult education broadcast at 10:30. He will discuss the history and duties of the state legislature and something of how it operates.

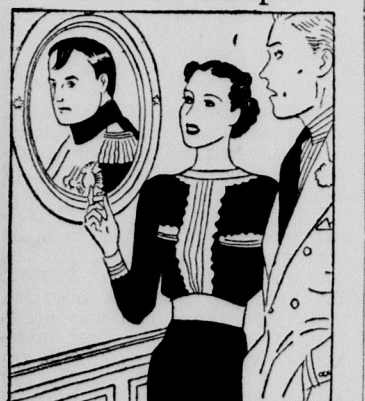

Opinions by nationally prominent people including Charles A. Beard, Charles Chapman Catt, Harry W. Colmery and William Allen White of "How to Stay Out of War" will be given in Monday morning's Orange County Public Forum broadcast at 11:15.

With Benay Venuta continuing her personal appearance engagement in Hollywood, Fla., the duties of master-of-ceremonies for the blonde singer's variety hour falls for the third consecutive week upon the broad shoulders of Ed Fitzgerald. The orchestra, Helene Hughes, Stuart Gracey and an assortment of stooges will be at Fitzgerald's command for the broadcast from KVOE tonight for an hour starting at 5 o'clock.

Rick Roberts' orchestra, plus Winifred Heidt, soprano, and the piano duo of Gordon Fleming and Wally Townsend are responsible for this "review of Broadway reviews," otherwise known as "Current Time," on KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system from 6:30 to 6:45 tomorrow evening.

CIRCLE TO MEET
COSTA MESA — Miss Alice Plumer's circle of the Friday Afternoon club will hold a regular meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ernest L. Kirby, 273 Monte Vista avenue. A business meeting will follow luncheon, which is to be served at 1 p. m.

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT AND TOMORROW

The major networks will be busy tonight broadcasting festivities connected with the president's birthday and benefit parties being held in connection with it. The President and other leaders of the national movement against infantile paralysis will be heard during the festivities at approximately 8:20 p. m.

Speaking of the President, his mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, will appear on Joe Cook's variety show on KFI at 6:30 to give a little inside dope on the childhood of her little boy, Franklin.

NEGRO MUSIC AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Garner Singers to Offer Spirituals of South Sunday Night

Tomorrow night at seven o'clock the First Baptist church will record with the voices of the George Garner negro chorus of Pasadena.

Every promise has been given that Sunday's concert to be held in the church auditorium will attract a record audience.

Rare old negro spirituals—some of which have never before been heard, plantation melodies, negro slave and march songs as well as music from the Russian church will be featured on this program.

Another feature, one which Santa Ana's will not want to miss, will be the full-robbed processionals of the chorus. This feature will open the musical festival.

George Garner, a tenor artist of international reputation, who forsook the concert stage to devote his life to the uplift and succor of his race, will lead the band; and his talented wife, Netta Paulyn Garner, will assist at the piano.

The music-loving public of Santa Ana and its environs as well as the public at large are urged to be seated in the church auditorium at an early hour in order that no inconveniences may be experienced. An offering will be taken to defray expenses.

In addition the negro chorus, the junior department of the church school will present a short exercise on the negro topic, entitled "American Eagles," under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Baird.

The adult class period will follow the general assembly.

Tea and exhibits in the ladies' parlor will close the evening. The tea will be under the direction of the Married People's class.

CHILD PASTOR DRAWS CROWD

Charles Jayne, six year old preacher, has been drawing a capacity crowd to the local Four Square church this week with his nightly evangelistic campaign, the Rev. W. C. Parham, pastor, said today.

Little Charles is a dynamic speaker, and has preached in more than 100 cities of the United States. He opens his own services, leads singing, entertains with vocal solos, does his own preaching and makes his own altar call.

His Sunday services open at 7:30 p. m. His mother, Mrs. Charles E. Jayne of Detroit, will preach at the 11 a. m. services.

Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Christ Before Caiaphas.—After the soldiers had taken Jesus, according to John, they led Him before Annas, at Jerusalem. "Then the band and the captain and officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound Him. And led him away to Annas first; for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high priest that same year. Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people. The high priest then asked Jesus of His disciples, and of His doctrine. Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing. Why askest thou Me? ask them which heard Me, what I said. Now Annas had sent him bound unto Caiaphas the high priest. And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. They said therefore unto him, art not thou also one of His disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not. One of the servants of the high priest, being his kinsman whose ear Peter cut off, said, did I not see thee in the garden with Him? Peter then denied again; and immediately the cock crew."—John 18: 12-27. This illustration is from Merian's story of the Bible in pictures, engraved in 1625-1630.

ORATORIO TO BE OFFERED AT CHURCH

The impressive and well-known Handel oratorio, "The Messiah" will be presented at tomorrow's vesper service at the First Methodist church, when an orchestra of 50 musicians, a children's chorus of 150 grammar school students, the First Methodist choir, the Santa Ana Cecilia singers, and a number of talented soloists unite their efforts.

Under the direction of Halstead McCormac, the large group of singers will present several innovations, among them the singing of the "Glory to God" chorus, the "Hallelujah" and the "Lift up Your Heads" chorus sung by the children. All the major choruses will be sung.

The bass role will be filled by Frank Pursell, director of music at Whittier college, who has appeared with the Los Angeles Oratorio society as soloist. Ray Fessenden, soloist at the First Congregational church, Los Angeles, and Laura Joiner, popular local vocalist, will handle the contralto roles.

Irma Rutter and Elizabeth Morgan will share soprano solos, and Marquise Hare and Gustav Koehler will be heard in the tenor solos. Esther Vogt, accompanist of the Cecilia Singers, will be at the piano, and Christine Lambert, church organist, will accompany the recitatives and choruses.

Mrs. R. I. Matthews, president of the church choir, and Laura Joiner, president of the Cecilia Singers, are in charge of arrangements for the concert.

Thorne in the Flesh

By GLENN L. THORNE

"... Shall Come to Poverty."

This week we look at one of four yearly approaches to the liquor problem, today's dealing with the financial cost of alcoholic beverages.

Just why there should be such a problem is more than some of us can understand. Yet there is, so why should we bury our heads in the sands like an ostrich or put our nose high in the clouds about the situation, for we meet it face to face every day.

But to every try to approximate the financial cost of alcoholic beverages staggers one's imagination. Some have tried to reduce the costs to terms of dollars and cents and have given us figures. But in these days of big figures, millions and billions of dollars cause only a passing glance.

And, anyway, can the cost of alcoholic beverages be expressed in terms of dollars and cents? How about the cost of human life, of broken hearts, of ruined manhood and womanhood, of the anguish to loving wives and husbands, or parents—or children! Can these costs be reduced to terms of cold cash?

We have all seen pictures—both prints and actual scenes of the

"I am the Voice of Alcohol: I invite you to let me 'treat' your son or your daughter for just one evening. I will give them an unexplainable thrill and will plant in them the insatiable thirst that only 'more' can appease. Loan me your son or your daughter for one night and one glass. I will return them to you injured with a deterioration of moral standards, stamina and virtues, and disintegration of social equity, justice and honor."

"drunkard's child," which revealed poverty and rags—and heartaches. Can this be expressed in dollars and cents?

Well recognized authorities tell us that drunkenness brings more than mere rags and poverty or temporary stupor and heartaches. It brings race degeneracy, a blight of the brain, a loosening of the bands of self-respect bringing about a moral degeneracy. Can that be figured out in terms of money?

We have yet to learn anything in favor of the liquor business. Some will argue that it "brings in license revenues and the government reaps a profit." Is it a profit when it produces extra crime to be dealt with, causes upkeep of extra prisons, unemployed and helpless to be taken care of, and accidents which mean financial expense, to say nothing of unnecessary death?

Recently I read where a nationally advertised brand of whiskey has just been reduced from $5 to $4 per quart. And according to recent local advertisements, milk has been reduced in some stores to 8 cents per quart. That figures out to about 50 quarts of milk for the price of one quart of that certain brand of whiskey. If we're comparing values and costs...

And what better drink could one ask than a glass of cool milk? Yes, we repeated regulatory laws, school, double it, we didn't we couldn't repeal the natural laws governing the effects of alcohol upon the brain, stomach and heart of the one who takes it into his system.

A few years ago it was my misfortune—or perhaps I should say my fortune—to occupy a hospital

WILL REVIEW VOLUME BY BROWNE

"When a Jewish rabbi looks at Jesus through the eyes of Mary Magdalene we can expect a startling picture, and one very far from the conventionalized picture of traditional Christianity," said the Rev. Julia Budlong of the Unitarian church today, in discussing the theme of tomorrow evening's sermon, Lewis Browne's latest book, "All Things Are Possible."

"Lewis Browne himself insists that it is the story of Mary Magdalene, not of Jesus," she said.

"When I talked with Mr. Browne after his lecture this week at the Santa Ana high school auditorium," she continued, "he said 'Mary Magdalene was a simple Galilean peasant girl at the time of the Roman occupation of Palestine."

"In popular writing and in the movies she is idealized and surrounded with quite a false glamour. I have tried to show realistically what she must have been like and what her life must have been. 'You cannot understand the true role of Jesus as a simple, traveling teacher unless you are willing to see him in the setting of the life and the people who surrounded him.'"

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY PLANNED

The United Presbyterian church will observe "Young People's Day" tomorrow at all public services, morning and evening, the Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly, pastor, announced today.

The pulpit message in the morning will have as its theme "A Precious Possession—Our Young People." At 7 p. m. there will be a youth service, with a program consisting of organ numbers, choir numbers by the junior high department, an accordion solo by William Dennis, a scripture reading by Beveridge Nelson, a solo by Dorothy Baitt, a solo by Virginia Finley, a duet by Peggy and Billy Warner, and two brief addresses entitled "Youth Speaks," by Marjory Hutchinson and Wayne Harris.

Abbey Program Is Postponed

On account of the prevalence of illness among members of the choir which was scheduled to present the Musical Memory Hour at Melrose Abbey, no program will be given Sunday afternoon.

The regular program will be given as usual, Sunday, Feb. 7.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to it in this paper, and also the local news published here.

Your Help is Needed

MUCH vivid description is coming from reporters in the flooded Ohio and Mississippi valleys; but none of them have reached the literary height of the writer in the seventh chapter of Genesis.

He wrote:

"The same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened."

"And the rain was upon the earth for forty days and forty nights."

"And waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; and all the high hills, that were under the whole heaven, were covered."

"And every living substance was destroyed which was upon the face of the ground, both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven."

"And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days."

Of course, that was a much bigger flood. But folks who are fortunate enough to live outside the path of this 1937 horror should not take it too lightly.

Rain, sleet and snow feed the raging rivers. Fire leaps along gasoline-covered waters. Threatening epidemics of typhoid, dysentery, diphtheria, pneumonia and influenza multiply the terrors of hundreds of thousands of people driven from their homes.

They need help. The Red Cross is asking for $8,600 in Orange county. Several thousand more dollars are needed to reach this goal.

If you are lucky enough to have a dry pocket, don't resist the temptation to dig down for this appeal.

Oregon's legislature has discovered a million-dollar error in the budget. We always thought budgets were a nuisance, anyway.

Cost of Living—Here—Elsewhere

THIS jump in price of fresh fruits and vegetables is another one of the bad things that the freeze brought Orange county and the rest of Southern California.

Lettuce, oranges, cauliflower, peas, potatoes, cabbage—sounds like a vegetarian banquet, doesn't it?—have zoomed upward, almost double in many cases.

The rise is due, of course, to the law of supply and demand—which is one law that not even the supreme court can annul. The freeze reduces the supply, and the demand sends up the price. Simple, although painful.

Santa Ana families are fortunate, however, that meats and staples, such as eggs, sugar and bread, are staying on the lower levels.

In fact, local prices for these commodities are as low, or lower, in many cases than they are elsewhere.

The Journal knows whereof it speaks. A survey proves this statement—and figures may be had by calling the editor.

Orange county—compared to other similar localities—is really a pretty reasonable place to do your buying. The High Cost of Living is here with us, true enough; but it's not as high as it is in many other Southern California communities.

It is believed that jokes about "the king and Mrs. Simpson" are on the wane, and that the Dionnes will continue to hold the record.

Back to Work

IT IS HAPPY news for the entire West that the long drawn out shipping strike is expected to end Monday.

It is great news for the workmen, that once again they are to work.

It is better news for their wives and children, to whom work for the men means those comforts and cheer which make up a home.

It is grand news for the public, which has been paying higher prices, and sometimes doing without commodities, because of the halt in ocean transportation.

As the strike ends, the West will make up for lost time and lost money by hard work; and all bitterness will be forgotten.

But one lesson will remain—that arbitration is the way to solve our American labor problems.

Let's hope the heads of the great automotive industry and the auto workers unions find that out soon!

Enjoy yourself at the President's Ball tonight for sweet charity's sake.

Belongs in the Wastebasket

SENATOR HARRY WESTOVER voices our sentiments exactly in his two-fisted condemnation of the proposal that Orange county pay $500 for a lobbyist at Sacramento.

Says the senator:

I feel that I express the attitude of the two other members of the Orange county delegation when I say that the Orange county delegation is opposed to lobbyists. We believe that the Orange county delegation is adequately able to look after the interests of Orange county without the help of a lobbyist.

It has been my intention to work on a program looking toward the reduction of taxes through the reduction of the costs of government. Why should we be so interested in Sacramento in keeping down the costs of government if the board of supervisors in our home county spends money to maintain and keep what in our opinion is a needless and useless lobby?

In the interests of common sense and economy, the supervisors should "file" this grab for $500 in the county wastebasket.

Wonder what happened to that $4000 grand jury report?

Medicine on the Wing

IN VAST Australia, where farms are often hundreds of miles apart, doctors have taken to the air. Medical airplane patrons make regular visits, landing when a specified signal is shown, indicating that some bush rancher, or his wife, or his child, is ill.

Doctors bring health from the skies in Australia. On the opposite side of the globe, airplanes are being put to just the opposite use, to drop death from above. What a contrast between wild Australia and "civilized" Spain!

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

There was an upward flutter of memories, like the sudden soar of pigeons in St. Marks, when I read in the home town paper that Aunt Annie Adams had started on her ninth annual trip to Florida.

Aunt Annie, one recalls with a tinge of pride, is 82 years young.

She is not a real aunt. But one of those comfortable family friends younger like to knit into closer tie.

Aunt Annie, before they built the porch, pleasant home on Third avenue, lived upstairs over Uncle Charlie's furniture store on the main business street.

It was a high adventure for me to spend a day at the Adamses, especially during those convalescences from periodical surgeries in Cincinnati. Aunt Annie was a subscriber to Nick and Judge and I could cut out pictures by Zim and F. Oppert to paste into an enormous—and highly aromatic—scrap book.

Then on star shimmering band nights we could sit on the balcony over-looking the Ohio and the public square and hearken to Prof. Pausy Lawson's tooters. Too, those Aunt Annie dinners topped with French pancakes spread with chocolate sauce! And taking me home Aunt Annie would stop at Kerr's for sodas.

I have watched royalty drive through the Victory Arch in the Tiergarten approach to Unter den Linden, the venerable French aristocrats in their dog carts, back to back with grooms, in the Bois, morning elegants on their caroling chargers in London's Hyde Park and Mrs. Belmont's rubricated coach and four ave trumpery swaying down 5th avenue. But none had the glamour of the procession circling the square on band night.

There was Charles Gentry, the dapper town tailor, in his spic yellow wheeled Stanhope so high in the air. There were Billy Taylor, the lively man, and his lightning little sorrel Myrt. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Henking, the banking people, who went to Europe every year, and their carriage with the fringed canopy. Bezzette Newcomb, the town belle, who brought back from a summer excursion to Atlantic City that new fancy—and many thought sissified—game, lawn tennis. Stuttering Joe, a beloved blackamoor, who lived along that shady summery mentioned in whippers as Dog Ham and delivered washing for his mother.

Our public square on band night wove an epic pattern of small town nobility. Set in the human afterglow that comes along with the loneliness of sunset to contented people. And not without seamy threads as dark relief in the tapestry. There were the shanty boat girls—"soiled doves" grandma called them—buxom lasses, not as yet tarnished by the erosion of vice. Girls we were to see later in criss-cross silhouettes through the bars of the county jail. Girls the gossiping old pelicans then as now sometimes never gave a chance.

Our town was settled by a quixotic band of artists and dreamers history records as The French Five Hundred. Its name Gallipolis means City of Gauls and the Gallie impress or architecture prevails. Houses flush the sidewalk with platform-like porches, steps up one side and down the other often brick-walled gardens in the rear. Band night the square came out to its porches.

On one corner the Park Central with cane seated chairs out front under maples and niches left of the entrance Mr. Sam Cherrington's cigar shop where all the prominent collected after supper.

And so in a ruminative hark-back one is carried to the balcony on the square as shadows creep slowly over a peaceful town. Something gravely sweet, ineffably sad as the gentle breezes whispered the trees in the park, wafting a delicate scent of pink-topped clover from West Virginia hills. A moon-drenched creation gripped in a stark wonder of eclipsing darkness. And there was an interlude of silence when words were never spoken. Something wonder if that was not something of a brush with reality.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

EDITOR'S NOTE—Today it is Stanley Baldwin, 70-year-old British prime minister, who gets the Brass Ring, "good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round." Baldwin, who muddled through many crisis in half a lifetime of British politics, is another who can ride the Merry-Go-Round "without losing his head or his sense of humor."

LONDON — Stanley Baldwin, nearly 70 years old and the most completely British premier England ever had, is planning to retire after the coronation next spring. And when he does so, he will be rated as the man who pulled a fast slipping personal prestige into overwhelming popularity—chiefly through the abdication of Edward VIII.

Baldwin today is at the peak of his long career, never more respected, more revered by the British public.

But he was not always so. Just a year ago his hedging over the Ethiopian crisis, his yielding to Mussolini after attempting to outbluff Il Duce in the Mediterranean, sent his political stock to new lows.

What brought it up was his recognition of two fundamental principles: (1) that the British are still a most conventional marriage, demanding conventional marriages of their monarchs; (2) that the British are a most democratic people, demanding obedience to Parliament from their monarchs.

FATHER-TO-SON
In addition to this, Baldwin and the ex-King enjoyed a genuine father-to-son relationship.

Once when Edward, then Prince of Wales, attended the annual dinner of the Anglo-American Journalists, he arrived about 30 minutes late in company with Stanley Baldwin, who was dressed in an ordinary business suit. Edward wore a white tie and tails.

"You must excuse me for being late," he said, grinning at the Prime Minister, "but I promised to stop by for my friend here, and he permitted the affairs of state to keep him and me waiting for 30 minutes."

"Incidentally," he added, "I told him he should put on some respectable clothes, but as usual the Prime Minister would not obey his sovereign."

This intimacy, which existed ever since Edward was a boy, was evident in the way Baldwin handled the delicate abdication situation. No one could have done it with more personal sympathy, but more firmness on the chief issues involved.

And the British public appreciated it.

FRIENDLY FOES
One of the secrets of Baldwin's parliamentary success is that he is always considerate of the opposition. Leaders of the opposing political parties like him, know that he plays fair with them, and they reciprocate.

Having spent 30 years in Parliament, he is the leading member of what sometimes is referred to as the House of Commons club—men who have spent most of their lives in Parliament, and have put personal friendship above party. That is one reason why Baldwin frequently is able to influence Major Atlee, the Labor leader; why he was on such good terms with Ramsey MacDonald, even when MacDonald was leading the opposition.

Baldwin is getting deaf now, has trouble following the debates. Also he is getting tired. Once a ready mixer, today he sees few people except those closest to him.

One Man's Opinion

By R. F. PAINE

Airline managements have decided to curtail flying operations during stormy or doubtful flying weather and to prohibit airplanes to approach airports at such altitudes as to enter a doubtful zone over mountainous territory until improved navigational aids are provided for such area.

"Tis wise management policy. Would-be passengers will do some curtailings, if the managements don't. Any enterprise entrusted with the lives of people should have "safety first" engraved in its brain and heart. Any management which, for the sake of advantage in competition, takes risks sins against both God and man; and the airplane's advantage over bus and railroad train lies in saving time. Unfortunately, it takes such as the recent horrible

ROAD DEPARTMENT WAGES
To the Editor: Does the public believe in fair play? Does the public know that about 48 men of the Orange county road department in the lower brackets have been put on half-time employment? That the majority of these men have been working there five years or more? That some of these men are earning less than they did four years ago? Wages have not been raised to original rate. That these men went to the supervisors to get a readjustment but met with no results? That most of the men have families that have to be supported? That the majority are taxpayers in the county?

What has become of the new deal that the new supervisors were going to give Orange county? Is this it? Forty-eight men on half-time to save Orange county around $2,000 a month when $2,500 approximately could be saved by taking $50 a month from five men making $200 a month. Or $25 a month from 10 men.

Is it better to have 48 men earning $40 or $50 a month when it could be done by having five or 10 men take some from their salary?

The county of Orange is supposed to be out of funds. Yet they want a new courthouse and a lobbyist.

The average old age pension for a single person is about $30. The price of food has nearly doubled in the last week.

Could the men in the higher brackets live on a budget like this: Rent, $15; gas bill, $5; light bill, $3; groceries, $17; total, $40?

This does not include milk, clothing, insurance, gasoline to go to work.

Will the public do something to make Orange county a fair place to work and live in?

A GROUP OF CITIZENS.

Chanced to meet a fellow yesterday who said he was having a hard time trying to convince a friend that he is not in favor of smudge, but he wasn't having much progress. So he has decided that what he is unable to accomplish by conversation he might get over with other means of persuasion, so he is going to assemble some bottles and glasses and lemons and launch the argument from a new angle.

As a weather antidote, milliner shows me a new spring hat. Looks good, too. It was just big enough to cover a 126-size orange.

Compared with the flood disaster our frost takes on the appearance of a summer picnic. Yep, we suffered, but we still have something left. The flood victims suffered, and have nothing left—nothing but hope. And take hope out of the human heart and the party is over. We hope the damage to our fruit will not be as extensive as has been estimated. But giving it the worst we still have 65 per cent of the Valencia crop which is marketable, while flood victims haven't a crib for the baby.

After diligent inquiry I have come to the conclusion that the only redeeming feature about the flu is a nurse. Convalescents support my opinion.

Frank Moore has a lemon grove in the Yorba Linda district, and he still has it. He escaped with the crop and even the fruitage was not damaged. This grove must have had a special dispensation, and certainly came within the qualifications of a favored locality. Frank brought in the evidence and left it at Frank Was' head headquarters.

If we are to have any sunnier oranges this season the heavenly osculation better get to work. So far sunlight has shown no disposition to select smudge as an affinity.

Let's accept the California Fruit Growers estimate of 35 per cent damage to the Valencia crop as maximum, there still remains enough favorable weather coming before the crop is to be sold to improve that figure, and I'm willing to believe we will get off with no more than 25 per cent loss.

The past is experience, the future is adventure. And we still have land which the assessor can find. Our less fortunate Middle West and eastern friends did have land no one will ever find.

Nice rain. Nice weather. Nice people. Nice place to live. What you cranking about? Had cold weather back East, didn't we? Brink is looking for. You can find the Lot of objections to any place you live. Let's pick out the best and forget the others.

Kodak fans have lost an opportunity to get a picture of an old landmark. The Spangler blacksmith shop which for a half century has stood on north Sycamore street between Second and Third is gradually fading from the historical picture. Few buildings of that type remain. A new Santa Ana has taken the place of the earlier structures. Fact is any old building equaling the Spangler structure in age and romance would be hard to find.

Speaking about "Brink" Brinkhoff looking for a turtle. It has occurred to me that us humans could have used during the recent cold spell something like the turtle's armor to protect our legs and arms. They have an undershield or plastron and a dorsal shield or carapace within which they withdraw the arms and legs. Maybe that's where the Orange High school girls got the idea for slacks. They wanted to put their legs into something warm for protection. But what's that got to do with turtle soup, and that's what "Brink" is looking for. You can find the green turtle along the Florida reefs, and the carnivorous loggerheads along the New England coast, and if "Brink" keeps looking maybe he can find a few in Santa Ana who have no place to go, and in no hurry to get there.
